PREFACE.

We take pleasure in presenting herewith to our subscribers a complete atlas of their county, and trustfully commend it to their favor. This work is evidence of the accomplishment of a task begun nearly a year ago. The desire to furnish a publication worthy of the approval and patronage of the public has prompted us from the start. The citizens of the county have fulfilled our expectations by their liberal subscriptions, and it is now our hope that the result of our labors may receive the approval to which it may be fairly entitled.

The beginning of such a work is naturally surrounded with much of uncertainty, and it is highly gratifying in the end to receive the practical endorsement of the leading business men and influential citizens of the county, and we hereby most gratefully acknowledge the numerous courtesies so generously extended us.

We believe that, beyond any question, the atlas which we herewith present, covering the territory of which it is descriptive, is the most complete volume of its kind ever published. The services of a large number of experienced men have been required for nearly a year for its production. Much of the work of preparation was done before canvassers were placed in the field. The immense labor involved in the collection of reliable data, and the general preparation of such a work, besides the care, worry and expense, can only be comprehended by those experienced in similar undertakings. And yet it has been the publishers' aim to shirk no hardship and to evade no duty,—in fact to spare neither pains nor expense in the endeavor to make the result as complete and satisfactory as possible. Records and plat books have been carefully examined, farms personally visited and actual surveys made where boundaries have been in doubt and lands of irregular shape. Every stream, railway and highway has had experienced personal attention, and many errors of previous maps and plats carefully corrected. Many hundreds of miles have been traveled in viewing and examining the component parts of the different districts, townships and villages.

Maps of the world, of the United States and of the state are important features of this atlas. We present also an interesting synopsis of the system of the United States land surveys, sketches of settlements and individuals, personal portraits, views of buildings and a directory of the farmers of the county; also a condensed history of the state, copy of the road laws, a table of taxable values, etc.

During the time this work has been in preparation, hundreds of people have assisted us by furnishing information and valuable data. It would be hardly possible to express our appreciation of these favors to each individual, hence we take advantage of this opportunity to tender our sincere thanks to one and all in this general way.

The various assessors, clerks and trustees of townships, city and village officials and county officers have all rendered us valuable aid, which we most gratefully acknowledge. Neither shall we forget those who by subscription and advertisement have given us their encouragement and support, for, indeed, without them no successful result could have been reached.

Notwithstanding the incessant toil and something of hardship involved, the preparation of this work has not been without its pleasant side, and now that it is completed we sincerely trust that it will meet with the approval of all patrons. We believe it will be generally recognized as one of the most complete and most nearly accurate works of this kind ever published, and many years will no doubt elapse before there will be a demand for another similar atlas of this county.

If our work shall win a measure of appreciation equal to our pride in its production, the gratification to us will add very largely to our compensation for this business venture.

With personal regards and good wishes to all who have assisted in this work and to all our patrons as well, we are,

Very truly yours,

THE PUBLISHERS.

INVESTMENT
SECURITIES

If you want to invest your money in buying land for one-third of the value, go to South Dakota. If you want to live in a country where such a thing as a fertilizer is unknown, come and locate in this district. If you want to live where the winters are not too cold nor the summers too hot come to this district. If you want to invest your money where it will bring you big interest, from ten to twenty-five per cent, come to this district and purchase some of our fine lands.

FARMERS DO THE SAME THING IN SOUTH DAKOTA

BUY LAND, and get rich like thousands of others have done and are doing today out in the great field of opportunities, South Dakota.

If you want city property we have 168 lots in Minneapolis for sale. Nobody will dispute the fact but what Minneapolis is the commercial center of the northwest.

OUR SUCCESS.

More than twenty years ago we began the real estate business in South Dakota in a small way. We believed at that time that the real estate business could be made successful, carried on in a straightforward, honorable way. We also believed that the strictest honesty and integrity coupled with push and energy would win in the end.

This course was adopted as our standard, and every year and every day our business has increased in volume and our customers have been more numerous and the thousands of our satisfied buyers who are constantly sending their friends to us are our best advertisers.

We have handled several land deals within the past five years that have run into the thousands of dollars, and in almost every case they have bought largely on our judgment, and our investors have made no mistakes.

We are always glad to have those interested in the northwest come in and ask about investments or loans, and we can assure you the most courteous treatment at all times. Always bear in mind that we are the largest dealers in North and South Dakota lands in Marshalltown; and also bear in mind that we own every foot of land that we offer for sale. Therefore, the curbstome real estate man does not draw any commission out of it; and consequently we always have the best and most desirable bargains to be had.

The System of United States Government Land Surveys.

The present system of surveying Government lands, termed the Land System of the United States, has developed from an ordinance introduced before the Continental Congress May 7, 1784, termed "An Ordinance for ascertaining the mode of locating and disposing of lands in the Western Territory," and adopted by an act of Congress passed May 7, 1785. It had no precedent in the theory or practice of any pre-existing government, being the result of the highest order of statesmanship, and exhibiting a profound knowledge of engineering science in minute details. With a few unimportant changes, it has been adopted by the Dominion of Canada. The ordinance provided for townships six miles square, containing thirty-six sections one mile square. The region embraced by the surveys under this law forms a part of the present State of Ohio, and is usually styled "Old Seven Ranges." The townships, six miles square, were laid out in ranges extending northward from the Ohio River, the townships being numbered from south to north, and the ranges from east to west. In these initial surveys only the exterior lines of the townships were surveyed, and mile corners were established on the township lines, but the plats were marked by subdivisions into sections of one-mile square. The sections were numbered from one to thirty-six, commencing with number one in the southeast corner of the township, and running from south to north in each tier to number thirty-six in the northwest corner of the township. These first public surveys were made under the direction of the Geographer of the United States.

The act of Congress approved May 18, 1796, provided for the appointment of a surveyor-general, and directed the survey of the lands northwest of the Ohio River and above the mouth of the Kentucky River, "in which the titles of the Indian tribes have been extinguished." Under this law one-half of the townships surveyed were subdivided into sections "by running through the same, each way, parallel lines at the end of every two miles, and by making a corner on each of said lines at the end of every mile," and it further provided that "the sections shall be numbered, respectively, beginning with the number one in the northeast section, and proceeding west and east alternately, through the township, with progressive numbers till the thirty-sixth be completed." This method of numbering the sections is still in use, and can be seen by reference to Diagram No. 2.

The act of Congress, approved February 11, 1805, directs the subdivision of the public lands, into quarter sections, and provides that all the corners marked in the public surveys shall be established as the proper corners of sections or subdivisions of sections which they were intended to designate, and that corners of half and quarter sections not marked shall be placed as nearly as possible "equidistant from those two corners which stand on the same line."

The act of Congress, approved April 25, 1812, provided "that there shall be established in the Department of the Treasury an office to be denominated the General Land Office, the chief officer of which shall be called the Commissioner of the General Land Office, whose duty it shall be, under the direction of the head of the department, to superintend, execute, and perform all such acts and things touching or respecting the public lands of the United States and other lands patented or granted by the United States, as have heretofore been directed by law to be done or performed in the office of the Secretary of State, of the Secretary and Register of the Treasury, and of the Secretary of War, or which shall hereafter by law be assigned to the said office."

The act of Congress, approved July 4, 1836, provided for the reorganization of the General Land Office, and that the executive duties of said office "shall be subject to the supervision and control of the commissioner of the General Land Office under the direction of the president of the United States." The repealing clause is, "That such provisions of the act of the twenty-fifth of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and twelve, entitled 'An act for the establishment of a General Land Office in the Department of the Treasury,' and of all acts amendatory thereof as are inconsistent with the provisions of this act, be and the same are hereby repealed."

From the wording of this act, it would appear that the control of the General Land Office was removed from the Treasury Department, and that the Commissioner reported directly to the President; but as a matter of fact the Secretary of the Treasury still had supervisory control, for the act of Congress, approved March 3, 1849, by which the Department of the Interior was established, provided "That the Secretary of the Interior shall perform all the duties in relation to the General Land Office, of supervision and appeal, now discharged by the Secretary of the Treasury." By this act the General Land Office was transferred to the Department of the Interior, where it still remains.

THE RECTANGULAR SYSTEM OF SURVEYS.

The public lands of the United States are ordinarily surveyed into rectangular tracts bounded by lines conforming to the cardinal points. The principal lines are designated as meridian, base, township, range, and section lines, and the bodies of land thus formed are known as townships, sections, and lots. The first recorded use of the terms "township" and "section," as applied to the public lands of the United States, is in an ordinance reported to Congress April 26, 1785.

In Diagram No. 2, representing an entire township, each "section" and "lot" is plainly indicated.

INITIAL POINTS.

Initial points from which the lines of the public surveys are to be extended must be established whenever necessary under such special instructions as may be prescribed in each case by the Commissioner of the General Land Office. The locus of such initial points must be selected with great care and due consideration for their prominence and easy identification, and must be established astronomically. The initial point having been established, the lines of the public survey are to be extended therefrom as follows:

PRINCIPAL MERIDIAN AND BASE LINES

are extended north and south and east and west from the initial point by the use of solar instruments or transits, as may be directed by the Surveyor General. In order to check errors in measurement two sets of chainmen, operating independently of each other, must be employed, and the proper corners established. Principal meridians are designated by number or name. Each has its own base line, and these two lines form the basis or foundation for surveys of all lands within the territory controlled by them.

Ohio public surveys are controlled by several initial points, and by the first principal meridian coincident with the common boundary between Ohio and Indiana. Indiana surveys are controlled by the second principal meridian. Illinois surveys are controlled by the second, third, and fourth principal meridians. Wisconsin by the fourth principal meridian. Minnesota by the fourth and fifth principal meridians. The Dakotas by the fifth and sixth principal meridians, also by the Black Hills meridian. Iowa, Missouri, and Arkansas by the fifth principal meridian. Kansas, Nebraska, and the greater portion of Colorado and Wyoming by the sixth principal meridian. Michigan by the Michigan meridian. Florida by the Tallahassee meridian.

Alabama by the Huntsville and St. Stephens meridians. Mississippi by the St. Stephens, Choctaw, and Washington meridians. Louisiana, east of the Mississippi River, by the St. Helena meridian, and on the west by the Louisiana meridian. New Mexico by the New Mexico meridian. Arizona by the Gila and Salt River meridian. Utah by the Great Salt Lake meridian. Nevada by the Mount Diablo meridian. Idaho by the Boise meridian. Montana by the Montana meridian. California by the Mount Diablo, San Bernardino and the Humboldt meridians. Oregon and Washington by the Willamette meridian.

TOWNSHIPS AND RANGES.

Township lines are run east and west parallel with and six miles from the base line and from each other, and the spaces between these lines are known as townships north or south, and designated by numbers according to their numerical distance from the base line. Range lines are run north and south on a true meridian, six miles from and parallel, as near as may be, with the principal meridian, and the spaces between them are known as ranges, and are described as east or west of the principal meridian, and consecutively numbered from that line.

Diagram No. 1, will illustrate the system of numbering townships and ranges, north and south and east and west from the principal meridians and base lines; numbering east or west until they reach the next meridian, and north or south until they reach the next base line.

Thus, any certain township or range can readily be found within the territory embraced by this system if the numbers of the same are known referring to principal meridian and base line.

The bodies of land six miles square, formed by the intersection of the township and range lines, are called, and contain as near as may be, 23,040 acres. Congressional townships are described and located as being north or south of the base line and east or west of the principal meridian from which that particular survey is made. Thus township one north, range three west of the principal meridian, would be the first township north of the base line and in the third range west from the principal meridian. The law requires that the lines of the public surveys shall be governed by the true meridian, and that the townships shall be six miles square, two things involving in connection, a mathematical impossibility, for strictly to conform to the meridian necessarily throws the township out of square by reason of the convergency of the meridians, and hence, by adhering to the true meridian results the necessity of departing from the strict requirements of law, as respects the precise area of townships and the subdivisional parts thereof, the townships assuming something of a trapezoidal form, which inequality develops itself more and more as such, the higher the latitude of the surveys.

For that reason standards and auxiliaries, which are also called correction lines, and auxiliary or guide meridians are run from time to time, and are designated by number, and as north, south, east, or west, as the case may be, from their respective base lines and principal meridians; parallels and auxiliaries are now run at intervals of twenty-four miles, dividing the country into tracts of twenty-four miles square, or sixteen townships.

Congressional townships are subdivided into thirty-six tracts called each containing as near as may be 640 acres. The thirty-six sections into which a township is subdivided are numbered, commencing with number one at the north-east angle of the township, and proceeding west to number six, and thence proceeding east to number twelve, and so on, alternately, until they number thirty-six in the southeast angle. In all cases of surveys of fractional townships, the sections should bear the same number as they would if the township was full. In all cases where the exterior lines of the townships thus subdivided into sections or half sections shall exceed, or shall not extend, six miles, the excess or deficiency shall be specially noted, and added to or deducted from the western or northern ranges of sections or half sections in such township, according as the error may be in running the lines from east to west, or from south to north; the sections and half sections bounded on the northern and western lines of such townships shall be sold as containing only the quantity expressed in the returns and plats respectively, and all others as containing the complete legal quantity.

Diagram No. 2, shows an entire Congressional Township subdivided and numbered by sections, and showing excess or deficiency in area on the north and west sides of the township.

Sections are divided into quarters by straight lines run from the established quarter section corners—United States surveys to the opposite corresponding corners, and the point of intersection of the lines so run will be the corner common to the several quarter sections, or, in other words, the legal centre of the section; these quarter sections are designated as northeast quarter, northwest, southwest, or southeast according to their location with regard to their common corner.

In the subdivision of quarter sections, the quarter quarter corners are to be placed at points equidistant between the section and the quarter section corners and between the quarter corners and the common centre of the section, except on the last half mile of the lines closing on the north or west boundaries of a township, where they should be placed at twenty chains, proportionate measurement, to the north or west of the quarter section corner.

Fractional sections and those containing meandered rivers and lakes are also divided into 40 acre lots, as near as may be, these fractional lots are numbered from one upwards in each section. By an examination of Diagram No. 2, and of the maps on other pages of this work, the careful student will be enabled to describe or locate any piece of land. Numbers 1, 2-6 are the numbers of the meandered lots with areas shown: a, north quarter corner; b, east quarter corner; c, south quarter corner, and d, west quarter corner.

Proceeding down stream, the bank on the left hand is termed the "left bank" and that on the right hand the "right bank." These terms are to be universally used to distinguish the two banks of a river or stream.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT OF LOST CORNERS.

The original corners where they can be found, must stand as the true corners they were intended to represent, even though not exactly where strict professional care might have placed them in the first instance.

Missing corners should be re-established in the identical localities they originally occupied. When the point cannot be determined by the existing landmarks in the field, resort must be had to the field notes of the original survey. The law provides that the lengths of the lines, as stated in the field notes, shall be considered as the true lengths thereof, and the distances between corners set down in the field notes constitute proper data from which to determine the true locality of a missing corner; hence the rule that all such should be restored at distances proportionate to the original measurements between existing original corners. That is, if the measurements between two existing corners differs from that stated in the field notes, the excess or deficiency should be distributed proportionately among the intervening section lines between the said existing corners standing in their original places. Missing corners on standard township and range lines should be restored by proportionate measurement between the nearest existing original corners on those lines. Missing section corners in the interior of townships should be re-established at proportionate distances between the nearest existing original corners north and south of the missing corners.

As has been observed, no existing original corner can be disturbed, and it will be plain that any excess or deficiency in measurements between existing corners cannot in any degree affect the distances beyond said existing corners, but must be added or subtracted proportionately to or from the intervals embraced between the corners which are still standing.

OFFICIAL SUBDIVISIONS BY COUNTY OFFICIALS.

Various states require their county auditors or recorders to cause a survey and plat of "irregular tracts" of land to be made and placed upon record, when, for assessment purposes, the descriptions are too indefinite. These become official, and title will pass as the same appear of record, by the number of each lot being given on the plat.

Diagram No. 3, on reverse page, shows a practical subdivision of a section for assessment or other purposes, with a proper description of each fractional part of the quarter section.

METES AND BOUNDS.

In the Eastern and New England States the system of surveying and describing lands by metes and bounds as followed prior to the establishment of the rectangular system of surveys still exists. The system at its best is imperfect and uncertain in its working, having no known lines for base of surveys, and seldom any official plats for references as to initial points. Diagram No. 4 shows a tract of land described and platted by "metes and bounds," as the same would appear in deeds.

STANDARD TIME.

What is known as the "new standard time," was adopted by agreement of all the principal railroads of the United States at 12 o'clock, noon, on Nov. 18, 1883. The system divides the Continent into five longitudinal belts, and establishes a meridian of time for each belt. These meridians are fifteen degrees of longitude, corresponding to one hour of time, apart.

Eastern Maine, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia use the 60th meridian; the Canadas, New England, the Middle States, the Virginias, and the Carolinas use the 75th meridian which is that at Philadelphia; the states of the Mississippi Valley, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, and westward, including Texas, Kansas, and the larger part of Nebraska and the Dakotas, use the 90th meridian, which is that of New Orleans; the Territories to the western border of Arizona and Montana use the 105th meridian, which is that of Denver; and the Pacific States use the 120th meridian.

The time divisions are known as intercolonial, eastern, central, mountain, and Pacific standard time.

A traveler passing from one belt to another will find his watch one hour too fast or too slow, according to the direction in which he is going. If traveling westward, his watch will be one hour faster; if eastward bound, it will be one hour slower than the belt which he enters.

This change of system reduced the time standards used by the different railroads from fifty-three to five, a great convenience to the railroads and traveling public.

The suggestion leading to the adoption of this new system originated with professor Abbe, of the Signal Bureau at Washington, and was elaborated by Dr. F. A. P. Barnard of Columbia College, New York. The scheme was proposed in 1878, but was not adopted until it had been submitted to a number of scientific associations at home and abroad, and received their approval.

ROAD LAWS OF IOWA

Sec. 1482. Jurisdiction. The board of supervisors has the general supervision of the roads in the county, with power to establish, vacate and change them, and to see that the laws in relation to them are carried into effect.

Sec. 1483. Width. Roads hereafter established, unless otherwise fixed by the board, shall be at least sixty-six feet wide, and in no case less than forty; within those limits they may be increased or diminished in width, altered in direction, or vacated.

Sec. 1484. Petition. Any person desiring the establishment, vacation or alteration of a road shall file in the auditor's office of the proper county a petition, in substance as follows:

To the board of supervisors of county:

The undersigned asks that a road commencing at and running thence and terminating at be established, vacated, or altered (as the case may be).

Sec. 1485. Bond. Before filing such petition, the auditor shall require the petitioner to give a bond, with sureties to be approved by him, conditioned that all expenses growing out of the application will be paid by the obligors, in case the contemplated road is not finally established, altered or vacated, as asked in the petition.

Sec. 1486. Commissioners. When the foregoing requirements have been complied with, the auditor shall appoint some suitable and disinterested elector of the county as commissioner, to examine into the expediency of the proposed establishment, alteration or vacation, and report accordingly.

Sec. 1487. Expediency. The commissioner is not confined to the precise matter of the petition, but may inquire and determine whether that or any road in the vicinity, answering the same purpose and in substance the same, be required; but no road shall be established through any burying-ground, nor through any garden, orchard, or ornamental ground contiguous to any dwelling-house, or so as to cause the removal of any building, without the consent of its owner.

Sec. 1488. Report. In forming his judgment, he must take into account the public and private convenience, and the expense of the proposed road, and, if he thinks the public convenience requires it, shall proceed at once to lay the same out, if the circumstances are such as to enable him to do so without having the same surveyed; but, if, in his judgment, such road should not be established, or the alteration or vacation made, he shall proceed no further, and in either case shall, within thirty days after the day of his appointment, file his report in the auditor's office.

Sec. 1489. Survey made. If the precise location of the road cannot otherwise be given, he must cause the line thereof to be surveyed and plainly marked out in the vicinity, answering the same purpose and in substance the same, be required; but no road shall be established through any burying-ground, nor through any garden, orchard, or ornamental ground contiguous to any dwelling-house, or so as to cause the removal of any building, without the consent of its owner.

Sec. 1490. Mile posts and stakes. Mile posts must be set up at the end of every mile, and the distance marked thereon, and stakes must be set at each change of direction, on which shall be marked the bearings of the new course. Stakes must also be set at the crossing of fences and streams, and at intervals in the prairie, not exceeding a quarter of a mile each; in the timber the course must be indicated by trees suitably blazed.

Sec. 1491. Bearing trees—monuments. Bearing trees must, when convenient, be established at each angle and mile post, and the position of the road relative to the corners of sections, the junction of streams, or any other natural or artificial monument or conspicuous object must, as far as convenient, be stated in the field notes and shown on the plat.

Sec. 1492. Plat and field notes. A correct plat of the road or alteration, together with a copy of the field notes of the surveyor, if one has been employed, must be filed as a part of the commissioner's report.

Sec. 1493. Report—objections—claims for damages. If the commissioner's report is in favor of the establishment, alteration or vacation of the road, it shall show the number of bridges required, and the probable cost thereof, and the auditor shall appoint a day, not less than sixty nor more than ninety days from such time, when the petition and report will be acted upon, on or before which day all objections to the establishment, alteration or vacation of the road, and all claims for damages by reason of its establishment or alteration, must be filed in the auditor's office.

Sec. 1494. Day fixed. The time for the commissioner to commence the examination shall be fixed by the auditor, and if he fails to so commence, or so report as prescribed in the preceding section, the auditor may fix another day, or extend the time for making such report, or may appoint another commissioner.

Sec. 1495. Notice served. Within twenty days after the day is fixed by the auditor as above provided, a notice shall be served on each owner of land lying in the proposed road, or abutting thereon, as shown by the transfer books in the auditor's office, who resides in the county, in the manner provided for the service of original notices. If the owner of the land as thus shown does not reside in the county, similar notice shall be served upon any person who is in actual occupancy of such land. In any case, notice shall be published for four weeks in some newspaper printed in the county, by county auditor.

Sec. 1496. Auditor may act. If no objections or claims for damages are filed on or before noon of the day fixed therefor, and the auditor is satisfied that the proposed road, or abutting section has been complied with, he shall proceed to establish, alter or vacate such road as recommended by the commissioner, upon the payment of costs. If such costs are not paid within ten days, the auditor shall report his action in the premises to the board of supervisors at its next session, who may affirm the action of the auditor, or establish such road at the expense of the county.

Section. 1497. New notice. If the auditor is satisfied that the notice has not been given, he shall appoint another day, and cause such notice to be served or published as required in the first instance, and thereafter proceed as provided above.

Sec. 1498. Objections or claims. If objections to the establishment of the road or claims for damages are filed, the further hearing of the application shall stand continued to the next session of the board of supervisors held after the commissioners appointed to assess the damages have reported. All claims for damages and objections to the establishment, alteration or vacation of the road must be in writing, and the statements in the application for damages shall be considered denied in all subsequent proceedings.

Sec. 1499. Appraisers appointed. Upon the expiration of the time for filing claims for damages, if any are filed, the auditor shall appoint three disinterested electors of the county as appraisers, to assess the amount of damages any claimants may sustain by reason of the establishment or alteration of such road, and shall give them notice of their appointment, and fix a day and hour at which they shall meet at his office, or that of some justice of the peace, to qualify; and if they do not all appear at the time and place named, or within one hour thereafter, the auditor or justice, as the case may be, shall fill any vacancies by the appointment of others, and swear such appraisers to faithfully and impartially assess the damages claimed. Such appraisers shall proceed at once to perform their duties, and, after assessing the damages sustained by the claimants, respectively, shall report the amount sustained by each, in writing, to the auditor, within thirty days from the date of their appointment.

Sec. 1500. Postponement—costs. Should the report not be filed in time, or should any good cause for delay exist, the auditor may postpone the time for final action on the subject, and may, if necessary, appoint other appraisers. Should no damages be awarded the applicants therefor, all the costs growing out of their claims shall be paid by them.

Sec. 1501. Final action. When the time for final action arrives, the board may hear testimony, receive petitions for and remonstrances against the establishment, vacation or alteration, as the case may be, of such road, and may establish, vacate or alter, or refuse to do so, as in their judgment, founded on the testimony, the public good may require. Said board may increase or diminish the damages allowed by the appraisers, and may make such establishment, vacation or alteration conditioned upon the payment, in whole or in part, of the damages awarded, or the expenses in relation thereto.

Sec. 1502. Unconditional order. In the latter case, a day shall be fixed for the performance of the condition, which must be before the next session of the board, and, if the same is not performed by that day, it shall at such session make some final and unconditional order in the premises.

Sec. 1503. Record. Any order made or action taken in the establishment, alteration or vacation of a road shall be entered in the road record, distinguishing between those made or taken by the auditor and those by the board of supervisors.

Sec. 1504. Plat and field notes recorded—road opened. After a road has been finally established or altered, the plat and field notes must be recorded by the auditor, who shall certify the same to the township clerk, and the supervisors of roads shall be directed by him to have the same opened and worked, subject to the provisions of the next section.

Sec. 1505. Fences—crops. A reasonable time must be allowed to enable the owners of land to erect the necessary fences adjoining the new road; and when crops have been planted or sowed before the road is finally established, the opening thereof shall be delayed until the crop be harvested.

Sec. 1506. Minors—insane persons. The rights and interests of minors and insane persons in relation to the establishment, vacation and alteration of roads, and all matters connected therewith, are under the control of their guardians.

Sec. 1507. Streets in villages. All public streets of villages are a part of the road; and all road supervisors or persons having charge of the same, in the respective districts or villages, shall work the same as provided by law.

Sec. 1508. In cities or towns. Such portions of all roads as lie within the limits of any city or town shall conform to the direction and grade and be subject to all regulations of other streets in such town or city.

Sec. 1509. By trustees of state institutions. The trustees or commissioners of the institutions belonging to the state may vacate, alter, change or establish public highways through the lands belonging to the state, and for the use of such institutions, as the said board of trustees or commissioners may deem for the best interests of the state and public, subject, however, to the approval of the board of supervisors of the county, or the city council of the city, wherein such lands are situated.

Sec. 1510. County line roads. The establishment, vacation or alteration of a road, either along or across a county line, must be effected by the concurrent action of the respective boards of supervisors in the manner above prescribed. The commissioners in such cases must act in concert, and the road shall not be established, vacated or altered in either county until it is so ordered in both.

Sec. 1511. General control—concurrent action. All roads, whether established by the trustees of state institutions under the statute or by the county authorities, are subject to the provisions of this chapter, and those established by the joint action of boards of supervisors of two or more counties can be altered or discontinued only by the joint action of the boards of the counties in which situated. Subject to these provisions, they shall be in all other respects treated, managed and controlled as provided in this title. The term "road," as used in this code means any public highway, unless otherwise specified.

Sec. 1512. Consent highways. Roads may be established without the appointment of a commissioner, if the written consent of all the owners of the land to be used for that purpose be first filed in the auditor's office; and the board, if satisfied that the proposed road is of sufficient public importance to be opened and worked by the public, shall make an order establishing the same. If the survey is necessary, the board, before ordering the same, may require the parties asking such establishment to pay or secure the payment of the expenses thereof.

Sec. 1513. Appeals—from what taken. Any applicant for damages caused by the establishment or alteration of any road may appeal from the final decision of the board to the district court of the county in which the land lies, notice of which appeal must be served on the county auditor within twenty days after the decision is made. If the road has been established or altered on condition that the petitioners therefor pay the damages, such notice shall be served on the first named in the petition. The petition, if there be less than many residing in the county, in the manner in which an original notice may be served.

Sec. 1514. By petitioner. An appeal may be taken by the petitioner as to the amount of damages, if the establishment or alteration has been made conditional upon paying the damages, by serving notice thereof on the county auditor and applicant for damages, in the manner in which original notices are served, and within twenty days after the decision of the board, and filing a bond in the office of such auditor, with sureties to be approved by him, conditioned for the payment of all costs occasioned by such appeal, if the appellant fails to recover a more favorable judgment in the district court than was allowed him by such board.

Sec. 1515. Transcript filed. When an appeal has been taken, the auditor shall, within ten days thereafter, make out and file in the office of the clerk of said court a transcript of the papers on file in his office, and proceedings of the board of supervisors in relation to such damages. The district court for damages shall be plaintiff and the petitioners defendants, except the damages have been ordered paid out of the county treasury, in which case the county shall be defendant.

Sec. 1516. Proceedings in court. The amount of damages the claimant is entitled to shall be ascertained by the court in the same manner as in actions by ordinary proceedings, and the amount ascertained shall be entered of record, but no judgment rendered therefor. The amount thus ascertained shall be certified by the clerk to the board of supervisors, who shall thereafter proceed as if such amount had been by it allowed the claimant as damages.

Sec. 1517. Costs. If the appeal be taken by the petitioners, they shall pay the costs, unless the claimant recovers a less amount than was allowed them by the board. In all other cases the taxing of the costs shall rest in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 1518. Lost field notes—resurvey. When, by reason of the loss or destruction of the field notes of the original survey, or of defective surveys or record, or of numerous alterations since the original survey, the location of any road cannot be accurately determined, the board of the proper county may cause it to be resurveyed, platted and recorded.

Sec. 1521. Road plat book. If the same has not been heretofore done, the county auditor shall cause every road in his county, the legal existence of which is shown by the records and files in his office, to be platted in a book to be obtained and kept for that purpose and known as the "road plat book." Each township shall be platted separately, on a scale of not less than four inches to the mile, and such auditor shall have all changes in or additions to the roads legally established immediately entered upon said plat book, with appropriate references to the files in which the papers relating to the same may be found. The auditor shall, from time to time, notify the clerk of each township of all changes made in the roads thereof, and on receipt of such notice he shall immediately make corresponding changes on the highway plat book in his office, and shall, in case such plat book is lost or is found to be substantially inaccurate, procure a new one, or cause corrections to be made, at a reasonable expense, to be paid out of the general township fund.

Sec. 1522. Sidewalks on highways. Any owner of land adjoining a public road outside the limits of a city or town may construct a sidewalk on and along said road, which shall not exceed four feet in width, and be located along the side thereof, of any material suitable for a foot-walk, but it shall not be so constructed as to interfere with the proper use and enjoyment of any lands or premises along which it is laid. The person building such walk shall keep the same in repair.

Sec. 1523. Penalty for injury to. Any person who shall destroy, injure, drive or ride upon a sidewalk so constructed, except at road crossings, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not less than five dollars for each offense, and shall be liable to the party who has built or maintained said sidewalk for all damages caused thereby.

Sec. 1524. Cattle-ways across highways. Upon application to the board of supervisors of any county by any person for permission to construct a cattle-way across, over or under any public road, it may grant the same upon condition that such way shall not interfere with the public travel; that the grade of the road over the cattle-way shall not exceed one foot in ten feet; and that the applicant shall not obstruct watering at any running stream. The applicant shall construct the same at his own expense, and be responsible for all damages that may arise from its construction, or from the same not being kept in repair.

Sec. 1525. Repairs. If the person on whose land such cattle-way is constructed fails to keep the same in repair, it shall be the duty of the road supervisor to make all necessary repairs, and charge the same to the owner of the land upon which such way is constructed, and, upon his refusal or failure to pay, the supervisor shall recover the same in an action brought in his own name, which money, when collected, shall be expended in improving or repairing the public roads in the road district where such cattle-way is constructed.

Sec. 1528. Application for. Any person desiring to build a cattle-way across a public highway, under any township bridge, may apply to the board of trustees of the township wherein the same is to be located, at any meeting thereof, and it may grant such application and prescribe such conditions in regard to the maintenance of said bridge as it may think proper.

Sec. 1527. Laying out public highways—fees. The following fees shall be paid persons engaged in laying out and changing roads:

1. Commissioners, for each day, two dollars.
2. Surveyor, for each day, four dollars.
3. Chain carriers, markers, and other assistants, for each day, one dollar and fifty cents.

CONDEMNATION OF LAND FOR ROADS.

Sec. 2028. Ways to lands which have none. Any person, corporation or copartnership owning or leasing any land not having a public or private way thereto, may have a public way to any railroad station, street or highway established over the land of another, not exceeding forty feet in width, to be located on a division line or immediately adjacent thereto.

If necessary may be secured by condemnation proceedings.

RAILWAY CROSSINGS.

Sec. 2072. Signals at road crossings. A bell and a steam whistle shall be placed on each locomotive engine operated on any railway, which whistle shall be twice sharply sounded at least sixty rods before a road crossing is reached, and after the sounding of the whistle the bell shall be rung continuously until the crossing is passed; but if effected by the sounding of the whistle in cities or towns the sounding of the whistle may be omitted, unless required by ordinance or resolution of the council thereof; and the company shall be liable for all damages which shall be sustained by any person by reason of such neglect.

Sec. 2054. Cattle-guards—crossings—signs. Every corporation constructing or operating a railway shall make proper cattle-guards where the same enters or leaves any improved or fenced land, and construct at all points where such railway crosses any public road good, sufficient and safe crossings and cattle-guards, and erect at such points, at a sufficient elevation from such road as to admit of free passage of vehicles of every kind, a sign with large and distinct letters placed thereon, to give notice of the proximity of the railway, and warn persons of the necessity of looking out for trains. Any railway company neglecting or refusing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable for all damages sustained by reason of such refusal or neglect, and it shall only be necessary, in order to recover, for the injured party to prove such neglect or refusal.

INTERURBAN RAILWAYS.

Sec. 2025. Street railways over highways. Any corporation organized under the laws of this state to operate a street railway in any city or town may, for the purpose of extending its railway beyond the limits thereof, locate, build and operate, by animal or other power, its road over and along any portion of the public road which is one hundred feet or more wide. It shall as soon as practicable put the road in as good repair as it was before its use for such railway. Boards of supervisors are authorized to accept for road purposes conveyances of land adjoining any such road or part thereof sufficient to increase the same to the width of one hundred feet; but in any county in which such company desires to operate its line of railway over a width of more than one hundred feet, for a distance of over two miles, beyond the limits of a city or town to any state institution, the board of supervisors may grant the right to it to operate its line over said road, not exceeding two miles, under such rules and regulations as said board may prescribe. The board shall have the power to rescind or modify such grant, rules and regulations at any time. Where an interurban railway desires to operate its lines along or upon a public highway, and in the opinion of the board of supervisors of the county in which such highway is located, it is impracticable or inexpedient to increase the width thereof to one hundred (100) feet, such board of supervisors may permit such interurban railway company to construct and operate its railway along and upon such highway, under such restrictions and regulations as the board may deem advisable; but no such railway shall construct or operate its line along or upon such highway until a written statement of consent of three-fourths of the residents owning property abutting upon such highway shall have been obtained and filed with the auditor of the county in which the highway is located. And in all cases the location, construction and operation of such interurban railway shall be subject to the provisions of section two thousand and twenty-seven (2027) of the code.

Sec. 2027. Unless the owners of the land abutting each side of said road shall consent to such use, the railway company shall pay all damages sustained by the land owners caused by building such road, which shall be ascertained and paid in the same manner as is provided for making private property for works of internal improvement, and it shall also be liable for all damages resulting from the carelessness of its officers, agents or servants in the construction or operation of its railway.

AS TO TELEPHONE LINES.

Sec. 2158. Right of way. Any person or firm, and any corporation or partnership, for such purpose, within or without the state, may construct a telegraph or telephone line along the public roads of the state, or across the rivers or over any lands belonging to the state or any private individual, and may erect the necessary fixtures therefor. When any road along which said line has been constructed shall be changed, the person, firm or corporation shall, upon ninety days' notice in writing, remove said lines to said road as established. The notice may be served upon any agent or operator in the employ of such person, firm or corporation.

ROADS TO SCHOOLHOUSES.

Sec. 8. Regulations. No person shall operate a motor vehicle on a public highway at a rate of speed greater than is reasonable and proper, having regard to the traffic and use of the highway, or so as to endanger the life or limb of any person, or in any event in the closely built up portions of a city, town or village, at a greater rate than one (1) mile in six (6) minutes, or elsewhere in a city, town or village at a greater rate than one (1) mile in four (4) minutes, or elsewhere outside of a city, town or village at a greater average rate than twenty (20) miles per hour; subject, however, to the other provisions of this section. Upon approaching a crossing of intersecting public highways, or a bridge, or a sharp curve or a steep descent, and also in traversing such crossing, bridge, curve or descent, a person operating a motor vehicle shall have it under control and operate it at a rate of speed less than hereinbefore specified, and in no event greater than is reasonable and proper, having regard to the traffic then on such highway and the safety of the public.

Sec. 9. Caution—signals. Any person operating a motor vehicle shall, at request or on signal by putting up the hand, from a pedestrian or driving a restive horse or other draft or domestic animal, bring such motor vehicle immediately to a stop, and, if traveling in the opposite direction, remain stationary so long as may be reasonable to allow such horse or animal to pass, and, if traveling in the same direction, use reasonable caution in passing such horse or animal, and the operator and occupants of any motor vehicle shall render necessary assistance to the party having in charge said horse or other draft animal in so passing.

Sec. 10. Brakes—signal bell or horn—lamps. Every motor vehicle while in use on a public highway shall be provided with good and efficient brakes, and also with a suitable bell, horn or other signal, and be so constructed as to exhibit, during the period from one (1) hour after sunset to one (1) hour before sunrise, one or more lamps showing white light visible within a reasonable distance in the direction toward which such vehicle is proceeding, and also a red light visible in the reverse direction.

2. To disseminate information and instruction to county supervisors, and other highway officers who make request; answer inquiries and advise such supervisors and officers on questions pertaining to highway improvements, construction and maintenance; and whenever the board of supervisors of a county adjudges that the public necessity requires a public demonstration of improved highway construction or maintenance in said county, and so request and agree to furnish necessary tools, help and motor power for same, the commission shall furnish as soon as practicable therefor, a trained and competent highway builder for such demonstration free to the county.

3. To formulate reasonable conditions and regulations for public demonstrations; and to promulgate advisory rules and regulations for the repair and maintenance of highways.

4. To keep a record of all the important operations of the highway commission, and report same to the governor at the close of each fiscal year.

1. The rate of property tax to be levied (for the succeeding year) for roads, bridges, guide-boards, plows, scrapers, tools, and machinery adapted to the construction and repair of roads, and for the payment of any indebtedness previously incurred for road purposes and levy the same, which shall not be less than one nor more than four mills on the dollar on the amount of the township assessment for that year, which, when collected, shall be expended under the direction and order of the township trustees.

2. The amount that will be allowed for a day's labor done by a man, and by a man and team, on the road. To certify to the board of supervisors the desire for an additional road tax, of not to exceed one mill, to be levied in whole or in part by the board of supervisors as hereinafter provided. At the November meeting, they shall settle with the township clerk and supervisors of roads.

Sec. 1529. General township fund—clerk to give bond—custody of implements. The trustees shall set apart such portion of the tax provided in the preceding section as may be necessary for the purpose of purchasing the tools and machinery and paying for the guideboards mentioned therein, and the same shall constitute a general township fund, and they shall require the township clerk to give bond in such sum as they may think proper, conditioned as the bonds of the county officers, which bond, and the sureties thereon, shall be approved by them. The township clerk shall have charge of and properly preserve the tools and machinery, and they shall require the township clerk to give bond in such sum as they may think proper, conditioned as the bonds of the county officers, which bond, and the sureties thereon, shall be approved by them. Sec. 1530. County road fund—how levied and paid out. The board of supervisors of each county shall, at the time of levying taxes for other purposes, levy a tax of not more than one mill on the dollar on the amount of the value of the taxable property in its county, including all taxable property in cities and incorporated towns, which shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner as other taxes, and be known as the county road fund, and paid out only on the order of the board of supervisors of the county, and the county in such places as it shall determine; but so much of the county road fund as arises from property within any city or incorporated town shall be expended on the roads or streets within such city or town, or on the roads or streets adjacent thereto, under the direction of the city or town council; and the county treasurer shall receive the same compensation for collecting this tax as he does for collecting corporation taxes. Moneys so collected shall not be transferable to any other fund nor used for any other purpose. The board of supervisors shall levy such an additional sum for the benefit of such townships as shall have certified a desire for such additional levy as provided for in section fifteen hundred and twenty-eight of this chapter, but the amount for the general township fund and the county road fund shall not exceed in any year five mills on the dollar.

Sec. 1531. Expenditure. It shall, at the regular meeting in April, determine from the auditor's and treasurer's books the amount of money collected and credited to said road tax fund. It shall also determine in what manner in which said tax shall be expended, whether by contract or otherwise.

Sec. 1532. Consolidation of township. The board of township trustees of each civil township in this state, at its regular meeting in April, 1903, shall consolidate said township into one road district, and all road funds belonging to the road districts of said township shall at once become a general township fund, and the township clerk shall be required to furnish a report of the amount for road purposes prior to the change, and unsettled, shall be paid.

Sec. 1533. Duty of trustees. Where the one road district plan is adopted, the board of township trustees shall order and direct the expenditure of the road funds and labor belonging or owing to the township; may let, by contract, to the lowest responsible, competent bidder, any part or all of the work on the roads for the current year, or may appoint a township superintendent of roads, to oversee, subject to the direction of the board, all or any part of the work, but it shall not incur an indebtedness for such purposes unless the same has been authorized by the board of trustees, or by an authorized levy; and shall order the township road tax for the succeeding year paid in money and collected by the county treasurer. It shall cause both the property and poll road tax to be equitably and judiciously expended for road purposes in the entire road district; shall cause at least seventy-five per cent. of the township road tax locally assessed to be thus expended by the fifteenth day of July in each year; shall cause the noxious weeds growing in the roads to be cut twice a year, when necessary, and at such times as to prevent their seeding, and it may allow any land owner a reasonable compensation for the destruction thereof, when growing in the roads abutting upon his land. If a superintendent of roads is employed, it shall fix the term of office, which shall not exceed one year, and compensation, which shall not exceed three dollars a day; and no contract shall be made without reserving the right of the board to dispense with his services at its pleasure.

Sec. 1534. Qualification of officers. The trustees shall require the township clerk, contractor and superintendent, contemplated in this plan, each to qualify as other township officers, and to execute a bond with approved sureties for twice the amount of money likely to come into their hands respectively.

Sec. 1535. Day's work. Eight hours' service for a man, or man and team, shall be required for a day's work; but except on extraordinary occasions no person shall be required to go more than three miles from his place of residence to work, and, for the purposes of one road district plan, the residence of a man with a family shall be construed to be where his family resides, and for a single man, it shall be at the place where he is at work.

Sec. 1536. Contractors and superintendents. The powers, duties and accountability of the township supervisors so far as may be, under the one road district plan, shall apply to contractors, superintendents and assistants.

Sec. 1537. Township system takes effect. In all cases where the one road district plan for the township shall have been adopted, it shall be competent for the township trustees to designate when the same shall take effect as to the working of the roads.

Sec. 1538. Compensation of trustees, treasurer and clerk. The trustees shall receive the same compensation per day for times necessarily spent in looking after the roads as they do for other township business; the county treasurer shall receive the same per cent. for collecting the road taxes here contemplated that he does for collecting corporation taxes; and the township clerk shall receive two per cent. of all the money thus coming into his hands and by him paid out for road purposes.

Sec. 1539. Furnish plat. The township clerk shall furnish each road supervisor a copy of so much of the map or plat furnished him by the auditor as relates to the roads in his district, and from time to time shall mark thereon the changes in or additions to such roads as the same are certified to him by the auditor, which map or plat shall be transferred to his successor in office.

Sec. 1540. Tax list. He shall within four weeks after the trustees have levied the property road tax for the succeeding year, certify said levy to the county auditor, who shall enter it upon the tax books for collection by the county treasurer as other taxes. And he shall, not later than the fifteenth day of April, make out and deliver to the superintendent of roads a list of all persons required to pay road poll tax under the provisions of this act. To enable him to make out such list, the assessor shall furnish the clerk of said township, before the first day of April of each year, a complete copy of the assessment lists of said township for that year, which shall be the basis of such poll tax list. Provided, that the property road tax for the year 1903, shall be levied as heretofore, that it shall be paid in cash and shall be collected by the superintendent of roads appointed by the trustees or the township clerk, as the board of trustees shall determine and direct. Provided, further, that all delinquent road tax for the year 1903, shall be certified to the county auditor by the clerk of each township, for collection as provided by section one thousand five hundred and forty-two (1542) of the code.

Sec. 1542. He shall, on or before the second Monday of November of each year, make out a list of all property, including lands, town lots, personal property and property otherwise assessed, including assessments by the executive council on which the road tax has not been paid in full, and the amount of the tax charged for each separate tract or parcel of said property, designating the district in which the same is situated and transmit this same to the county auditor, who shall enter the amount of tax on the lists the same as other taxes, and deliver the same to the county treasurer, charging him therewith the amount assessed, and each taxpayer in said district, county taxes are collected. In case the township clerk shall fail or neglect to make such return, he shall forfeit and pay to the township for road purposes a sum equal to the amount of tax on said property, which may be collected by an action on his bond.

Sec. 1543. Taxes paid to clerk. The county treasurer shall, on the last Monday in April and October in each year, pay to the township clerk all the road taxes belonging to his township, which are at such time in his hands, taking the duplicate receipts of such clerk in preference to any other receipts delivered by the treasurer to the trustees on or before the first Monday in May and November in each year.

Sec. 1544. Road taxes apportioned. The county auditor shall provide a column in tax list, in which shall be shown the road districts to which the road taxes belong, and the treasurer, when he pays the same to the township clerk, shall certify to the township clerk, showing the district or districts to which the money belongs, and the amount to each.

Sec. 1545. Road superintendent—qualification. Each road superintendent or contractor shall give bond in such sum and with such security as the township clerk may require (but in no case shall a township trustee sign such bond as surety) conditioned that he will faithfully and impartially perform all the duties required of him, and devote all moneys that may come into his hands by virtue of his office, according to law.

Sec. 1547. Posting tax list. The road supervisor shall, within ten days after receiving tax list, post up in three conspicuous places within his district written notices to each taxpayer in said district.

Sec. 1548. How tax expended. The road supervisor shall cause all taxes collected by him to be expended for road purposes on or before the first day of November of that year, seventy-five per cent. of which shall be expended before the fifteenth day of July, except the portion set apart for a general township fund, which shall be by him paid over to the township clerk from time to time as collected, and his receipt taken therefor.

Sec. 1549. In such district. The money tax levied upon the property in each district, except that portion set apart as a general township fund, whether collected by the road supervisor or county treasurer, shall be expended for road purposes in that district only.

Sec. 1550. Who to perform labor. The road supervisor shall require all able-bodied males of each district between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five, to perform two days' labor upon the roads, between the first days of April and September of each year.

Sec. 1551. Notice of time and place—receipts. The road supervisor shall give at least three days' notice of the day or days and place to work the roads to all persons subject to such labor, and he shall cause a copy of such notice to be posted in his district, and all persons so notified must meet him at such time and place, with such tools, implements and teams as he may direct, and labor diligently under his direction for eight hours each day; and for such two days' labor he shall give each person a certificate, which shall be his evidence that he has performed such labor on the public roads, and exempt him from performing labor in payment of road poll tax in that or any other road district for the same year.

Sec. 1552. Penalty for failure to attend or work. Each person liable to perform such labor on the roads, who fails to attend or either in person or by satisfactory substitute, at the time and place directed, with the tools, implements or teams required, having had three days' notice thereof, or, appearing, shall spend his time in idleness, or disobey the road supervisor, or fail to furnish him, within five days thereafter, some satisfactory excuse for not attending, shall forfeit and pay him the sum of three dollars for each day's delinquency; and in case of failure to pay such forfeit within ten days, he shall recover the same by action in his name as supervisor, and no property or wages belonging to such person shall be exempt from execution therefor. Such action shall be before any justice of the peace in the proper township. The money, when collected, shall be expended on the public roads.

Sec. 1554. Report. The superintendent of the township shall report to the township clerk on the first Monday of April and November of each year, which report shall embrace the following items:

1. The names of all persons in his district required to perform labor on the public road, and the amount performed by each;

2. The names of all persons against whom actions have been brought, and the amount collected of each.

3. The names of all persons who have paid their property road tax in labor, and the amount of each;

4. The amount of all moneys coming into his hands by virtue of his office, and from what sources;

5. The manner in which moneys coming into his hands have been expended, and the amount, if any, in his possession;

6. The number of days he has been employed in the discharges of his duty;

7. The condition of the roads in his district and such other items and suggestions as he may wish to make, which report shall be signed and sworn to by him, and filed by the township clerk in his office.

Sec. 1555. Tax certified and collected. If it appears from such report that any person has failed to perform the two days' labor required, or any part thereof, and that the road supervisor has neglected to collect the amount in money required to be paid in case of such failure, the clerk shall add the amount required to be paid to such person's property tax, and certify the same to the auditor, who shall enter it on the proper tax list, and the treasurer shall collect the same.

Sec. 1556. Shade trees—timber—drainage. The road supervisor shall not cut down or injure any tree growing by the wayside which does not obstruct the road, or which stands in front of any town lot, inclosure or cultivated field, or any grounds reserved for any public use, and shall not enter upon any lands for the purpose of taking timber therefrom without first receiving permission from the owner or owners of said lands, nor destroy or injure the ingress or egress to any property, or turn the natural drainage of the surface water to the injury of adjoining owners; but it shall be the duty of the supervisor to use strict diligence in draining the surface water from the public road in its natural channel, and to this end he may enter upon the adjoining lands for the purpose of removing obstructions from such natural channel that impede the flow of such water.

Sec. 1557. Liability for unsafe bridge or highway. When notified in writing that any bridge or portion of the public road is unsafe, the road supervisor shall be liable for all damages resulting therefrom, after allowing a reasonable time for repairing the same. If there is in his district any bridge erected or maintained by the county, he shall, on receiving written notice of its unsafe condition, obstruct the passage thereon, and notify at least one member of the board of supervisors, in writing, of its condition. If he fails to obstruct and notify he shall be liable for all damages growing out of the unsafe condition thereof, occurring after the time he is so notified and while he neglects to obstruct such passage. Any person who shall remove such obstruction shall be liable for all damages occurring to any person resulting therefrom, but he shall be relieved of such liability if he is so notified to relieve the county from liability for the defects of said bridge.

Sec. 1558. Extraordinary repairs. For making such repairs as are required in the preceding section, the road supervisor may call out any or all of the able-bodied men of the district in which they are to be made, but not more than two hundred, and not more than two days' labor. Any person called out shall be entitled to receive a certificate from him of the number of days' labor performed, which shall be received in payment for road tax for that or any succeeding year, at the rate per day established for that year.

Sec. 1559. Penalty. Any able-bodied man, duly summoned, who fails to appear and labor by himself or substitute, or send satisfactory excuse therefor or pay the value thereof in money before an action is brought, shall forfeit and pay ten dollars, to be recovered in an action in the name of the road supervisor, and for the use of the road fund of the district.

Sec. 1580. Obstructions removed. The road supervisor shall remove all obstructions in the roads, but must not throw down or remove fences which do not directly obstruct travel, until notice in writing, not exceeding six months, has been given to the owner or agent of the land inclosed in part by such fence.

Sec. 1551. Condition—guide-boards. The road supervisor shall keep the roads in as good condition as the funds at his disposal will permit, and shall place guide-boards at cross roads and at the forks of the roads in his district, which shall be made out of good timber, well painted and lettered, and placed upon good substantial hard-wood posts, to be set four feet in, and at least eight feet above, ground.

Sec. 1552. Canada thistle. The road supervisor, when notified in writing that any Canada thistles or any other variety of thistles are growing upon any lands or lots within his district, shall cause a written notice to be served on the owner, agent or lessee of such lands or lots. If found within the county, notifying him to destroy said thistles within ten days from the service of said notice, and in case the same are not destroyed within such time, or if such owner, agent, or lessee is not found within the county, then the road supervisor shall cause the same to be destroyed, and make return in writing to the board of supervisors of his county, with a bill for his expenses or charges therefor, which in no case shall exceed two dollars per day for such services, which shall be audited and allowed by said board and paid from the county fund, and the amount so paid shall be entered up and levied against the lands or lots on which said thistles have been destroyed, and collected by the county treasurer the same as other taxes, and returned to the county fund.

Sec. 1562a. Weeds. It shall be the duty of road supervisors to cause to be cut, near the surface, all weeds on the public roads in their respective districts between the fifteenth day of July and the fifteenth day of August of each year. But nothing herein shall prevent the land owner from harvesting the grass growing on said premises, right of way, road or street, before the same shall bloom or come to maturity. (Penalty follows.)

Sec. 1553. Russian thistle—notice. No owner or occupant of any land or lots, or corporation or association of persons owning, occupying or controlling land as right of way, depot grounds or other purposes, or public officer in charge of any street or road, shall allow to grow to maturity thereon the Russian thistle or salt wort (salsoli kali, variety tragas). It shall be the duty of every person or corporation so owning, occupying or controlling lands, lots or other real property, or any road supervisor or other public officer having charge of any street or road, to cut, burn or otherwise entirely destroy such thistle growing on said premises, right of way, road or street, before the same shall bloom or come to maturity. (Penalty follows.)

Sec. 1555. Settlement with supervisor. The road supervisor shall, on the first Monday in November, meet the township trustees, at which time there shall be a settlement of their accounts connected with the road fund, and the trustees may order such distribution of the fund as they may deem proper, and the township clerk shall be required to keep remaining in the hands of the township clerk as may be expedient for road purposes, which shall be paid out as ordered by them.

Sec. 1555-a. Itemized account—duty of trustees. That the trustees of each township shall take and file with the board of supervisors on or before the first Monday in each year a full and itemized account verified by the township clerk showing each item of expenditures and receipts of all moneys received and disbursed during the preceding year for road purposes in said township, which report shall remain on file with the county auditor, and a copy thereof shall be published in the published report of the proceedings of the January session of the board of supervisors. [29 G. A., ch. 53, § 15.]

Sec. 1556-b. Meaning of "road supervisors." That wherever the term "road supervisors" appears in the code and amendments thereto it shall be held so far as applicable to mean the superintendent or contractor.

Sec. 1558. Neglect of duty—penalty. A supervisor failing to perform the duties required of him by this chapter shall forfeit and pay, for the use of the road fund of his district, the sum of ten dollars, to be collected by an action in the name of the township clerk in his name.

Sec. 1559. Turning to right. Persons on horseback or vehicles meeting each other on the public roads shall give one-half of the same, turning to the right. A failure in this regard shall make the delinquent liable for all damages resulting therefrom, together with a fine not exceeding five dollars, which shall be collected by the board of supervisors, and no prosecution shall be instituted except on complaint of the person wronged.

Sec. 1570. Trimming hedges. Owners of osage orange, willow, or any other hedge fence along the public road, unless the same shall be used as a wind-break for orchards or feed lots, shall keep the same trimmed, by cutting back within five feet of the ground at least once in every two years, when so ordered by the trustees of their respective townships, and burn or remove the trimmings so cut from the road.

Upon a failure to comply with the foregoing provision, the road supervisor shall immediately serve notice in writing upon the owner or owner's agent to trim the same, and if he fails to do so for sixty days thereafter, such supervisor shall cause the same to be done at a cost not exceeding forty cents per rod, which shall be paid for out of the road fund, and make return thereof to the township clerk, who shall, in certifying the lands upon which the road tax has not been paid, include the lands along which the hedge has been trimmed, together with the amount paid therefor, which shall be collected by the county treasurer in the manner other county taxes are collected.

Where the one district system is adopted as provided in this chapter, it shall be the duty of the township trustees to enforce the foregoing provisions.

Sec. 1571. Steam engines on roads—penalty. Whenever any engine, driven in whole or in part by steam power is being propelled upon a public road, or is upon the same, the whistle thereof shall not be blown, and those having it in charge shall stop it one hundred yards distant from any person or persons with horses or other stock in or upon the same, and at a greater distance away if they exhibit fear on account thereof, until they shall have passed and a competent person shall be kept one hundred yards in advance of such engine to assist in any emergency arising from frightened animals, and to prevent accidents. In crossing any bridge or culvert in the public road, or plank street-crossing in any city or town, four sound strong planks not less than twelve feet long, each one foot wide and two inches thick, shall be used, by placing and keeping continuously two of them under the wheels. A failure to comply with either of the provisions of this section shall be a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not more than thirty days, and by a fine of not more than $100, and if the same offense is sustained may be recovered in civil action against the violator, and in no case shall the county be liable for personal injuries or for damages occurring to any engine or separator.

Sec. 1584. Drains across highways. When any water course or natural drain crosses any public road in the state, and the adjoining or abutting land owner wishes to cross said road with an underground tile drain, he shall notify the road supervisor having supervision over the road to be crossed, in writing, specifying the depth of drain and area of tile to be used in crossing said road, and give the road supervisor twenty days' time to construct said underground drain.

Sec. 1585. Supervisor shall construct. When the road supervisor receives said written notice, he shall order said drain constructed across said road, and pay for the tile and construction of the same out of any money or fund in his hands.

Sec. 1586. Construction by owner. If the supervisor fails to construct said drain within twenty days' time, then the abutting or adjoining land owner may go upon the road and construct the same across said road, and he shall receive pay for constructing the same, including tile used in crossing said road, out of any money or fund belonging to such road district; provided he shall leave the road in as good condition as it was before the drain was constructed.

Sec. 5039. Racing or fast driving on highways. Any person who shall be guilty of racing or driving upon the public highway, in a manner likely to endanger the persons or lives of others, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding thirty days.

Sec. 1573. Fast driving. Any person riding, except on bicycles, or driving, faster than a walk, across any bridge maintained at the public charge, shall be subject to pay the following penalties: When the bridge is twenty feet in length and does not exceed one hundred feet in width, one dollar for each offense; when over one hundred and not exceeding two hundred feet, the sum of three dollars; when over two hundred and not exceeding three hundred and fifty feet, the sum of five dollars; and for every additional sum of one dollar for each offense, for every hundred feet in length in excess of three hundred, to be recovered by civil action in the name of and for the county in which the bridge is situated. If the bridge is situated in more than one county, the action may be maintained in or by either of them.

Highway—road. The words "highway" and "road" include public bridges, and may be held equivalent to the words "county way," "county road," "common road," and "state road."

Exemptions—Synopsis. Every officer and soldier of the guard, and any person while an active member of any fire company, shall be exempt from poll tax.

DESCRIPTION OF STATE CENTER.

One of the best small cities in Iowa, is geographically in the center of the State, fourteen miles west of Marshalltown and sixty miles northeast of Des Moines. It is surrounded by one of the most productive and prosperous rural communities, land readily selling for $100.00 per acre. The town includes within its borders nearly 1500 people, being representatives of the highest class of American citizenship, progressive, energetic, enterprising and temperate. All the leading mercantile lines are comprised in the commercial interests, there being numerous Hardware, Grocery, Dry Goods and Drug Stores, besides two Banks, one Creamery, one Tank Factory, one Newspaper, as well as auxiliary factors. There is also included a local Telephone Exchange with fourteen country lines, all connecting with the Independent system; giving through service with all points throughout the State as well as elsewhere. Three rural routes are also maintained. Being situated on the main line of the C. & N. W. and the State Center branch of the Iowa Central railways, the railroad facilities are the best. The town owns its own electric light and water works systems, and possesses one of the best graded schools in Iowa, besides churches of the various denominations, including Methodist, Presbyterian, Catholic and Lutheran. There are many fine residences lined with miles and miles of permanent sidewalks and surrounded by beautiful, well kept lawns. In short, State Center is a place of homes, churches, schools, and all other uplifting elements, making it a desirable location in which to establish a permanent home.

STATE HISTORY.

POLITICAL HISTORY.

The state of Iowa is washed on its eastern border by the Mississippi river and on its western by the Missouri; on the north it is bounded by the state of Minnesota and on the south by the state of Missouri; it is nearly rectangular in form and contains 55,475 square miles of surface or 35,504,000 acres. Its highest point is in the vicinity of Spirit Lake and its lowest at the mouth of the Des Moines river. The distance between these points is about 300 miles and the difference in altitude 1,200 feet, making an average slope of four feet to the mile. The slope from the northeast corner of the state to the southeast is one foot and one inch per mile; from the northwest corner to the southwest corner, two feet per mile; from the northeast corner to Spirit Lake, five feet and five inches per mile; from the northwest corner to Spirit Lake, five feet per mile. These figures give an idea of the general lay of the land.

While largely a prairie state, its surface is crossed by a network of streams, most of them fringed with narrow belts or occasional groves of timber that give beauty to the landscape and provide valuable utilities for its people. Its soil is rich and productive, its waters clear and sweet, its air pure and bracing and its climate, though temperate, sufficiently variable to induce health and vigor without reaching the extremes of heat and cold found farther south and farther north. No other equal area of the earth's surface has less waste land. It is an ideal country for diversified farming and for country living. Every farmer has a flowing stream or wells of water or both, and acres of native or artificial grove, or both; he has plow land, meadow land, pasture, orchard, and garden; he raises wheat, oats, corn, barley, vegetables, and fruits; timothy, clover and blue grass; horses, cattle, hogs, sheep and poultry; butter and eggs, milk and honey are his; he lives on the fat of the land and produces it himself. Schools and churches are close at hand, the city or village not far away, rural free mail delivery brings him his daily paper, the telephone gives him communication with the city and with his neighbors and soon the electric trolley line will provide a railroad at his very door.

Capitol at Belmont, Wisconsin, where the First Session of the Legislature convened on October 25, 1836, and adjourned December 9th, while Iowa was a part of Wisconsin territory.

COAL.

An important resource of the state is its vast, almost inexhaustible, beds of coal, which provide cheap fuel for manufacturing and other purposes, and its manufacturing interests are steadily responding to the situation, and each year growing to be more and more important. The situation is an ideal one for bringing together the farm and the factory; the producers and the consumers of the products of each.

TRANSPORTATION.

The state is also well provided with railroad transportation. A network of roads cross its surface in all directions, and at the hundreds of stations grow up thriving towns and villages. The Mississippi river is a growing factor in questions of transportation and the early completion of the Hennepin canal will have its influence also in determining rates on heavy freightage. The interurban electric car lines is just beginning to make history in Iowa, and is likely to be of great importance to all interests.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Iowa has a splendid system of free schools. School houses are everywhere within easy reach and all children between the ages of five and twenty-one years are given the opportunity to secure an education practically without cost. Facilities for obtaining a higher education than those afforded by the common school are within easy reach at small expense. Nearly every village has its graded school, the larger ones have high schools, and public colleges and universities are at various places within the state. Added to these are numerous private and parochial schools, all well patronized and doing most excellent work.

OUT OF DEBT.

The state has no bonded indebtedness and no floating debt, and state taxes, compared with those of other states, are remarkably low. For several years the state has had a cash balance in its treasury averaging over a million dollars.

A large percentage of the counties of the state are also out of debt and have money in their treasuries. Municipal affairs in general have been splendidly managed. These facts bear witness to the intelligence, practical common sense and good business ability of the great masses of the people of Iowa.

It is not the purpose of this sketch to enter upon a detailed description of events taking place in the early history of this continent leading up to the organization of Iowa as a territory and state. A brief reference will be made only to important events and their dates. Neither is it deemed necessary to refer at great length to all that has transpired at a later date, the purpose being to give a condensed but clear and chronological statement of such facts of historical interest as are deemed of greatest importance, without much filling in of detail.

The first discovery of the Mississippi river, that constitutes the eastern boundary of Iowa, is credited by history to Ferdinand de Soto and his band of explorers who reached it at the mouth of the Washita river in the spring of 1542. In July, 1543, they descended the Mississippi from the point of discovery to the Gulf of Mexico. They did not follow it up stream.

The upper Mississippi was first reached by Marquette and Joliet with a party composed of themselves and five other French Canadians, who in the course of their travels came down the Wisconsin river until they reached the Mississippi and then continued on down the latter as far as the mouth of the Illinois river. This was in the summer of 1673.

The first white men to set foot on Iowa soil were undoubtedly Marquette and Joliet and their party, who, on the trip referred to in the preceding paragraph, discovered footprints and a pathway on the west bank of the Mississippi and went ashore to ascertain whence they led and by whom made. They soon found an Indian village and remained for a friendly visit of six days. The place of landing was near the mouth of the Des Moines river, and this date was June 25, 1673.

The next white voyagers on the Mississippi were LaSalle and Hennepin, the latter following its course north to the Falls of St. Anthony and then returning to join his leader, LaSalle, who with his small party floated on its waters to the sea. This expedition, from start to finish, covered the time from late in 1673 to the spring of 1682.

Spain was the first claimant of territory bordering the southern Mississippi, but failing to make settlements and improvements its title seemed to lapse and France, by re-discovery and occupation, established territorial rights and ownership. These were adhered to by France until 1762, when, in a secret treaty, she ceded to Spain all her possessions west of the Mississippi from its source to its mouth and west to the Rocky mountains and beyond. This wide extent of territory had been named the provinces of Louisiana.

Old Zion Church at Burlington, Iowa, where the Territorial Legislature of Wisconsin convened in 1837 and 1838, and where the Territorial Legislature of Iowa held its session in 1838, 1839 and 1840.

In March, 1801, Spain ceded back to France all of the province of Louisiana, but did not give up its possession.

In 1804, by authority of France, Spain conveyed the province of Louisiana to the United States, the latter paying for it the sum of fifteen millions of dollars, which went to France. The purchase was made from France by the United States in 1803 but was not fully ratified by Spain until nearly a year later.

It was the one hundredth anniversary of this purchase that was commemorated by the international exposition at St. Louis in 1904.

The Louisiana Purchase covered an area of 875,025 square miles or 560,016,000 acres. It embraced what now constitutes the entire states of Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, parts of Minnesota, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Louisiana, all of Indian Territory, and part of Oklahoma.

In 1804 congress divided the newly acquired province into two parts separated by the thirty-third parallel of north latitude. The part south of this line it named the territory of Orleans and that north the district of Louisiana.

In 1805 this district of Louisiana was organized as a territory of the same name.

In 1812 the territory of Louisiana was re-organized and called the territory of Missouri.

In 1819 the territory of Arkansas was formed including the present state of that name, and country to the westward.

In 1821 Missouri was admitted as a state in its present form.

In 1834 the territory bounded on the east by the Mississippi river and on the south by the state of Missouri, was made part of the territory of Michigan.

On July 4, 1836, the territory of Wisconsin was created, including the present states of Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota.

On July 4, 1838, the territory of Iowa was created; including at that time all the present state and reaching north to the British possessions.

In October, 1844, a convention was held at Iowa City to consider the question of statehood, fix upon boundary lines and prepare a constitution. The boundary lines agreed upon took in not only the present state but a considerable of Minnesota.

In 1845 congress passed an act providing for the admission of Iowa as a state, but defined its boundary on the west by a line that would now run north between Ringgold and Taylor counties, and on the north by a line running west from the mouth of Blue Earth or Mankato river, making a long, narrow state.

The boundary lines fixed by congress were not satisfactory to the people of the proposed state and at an election held August 4, 1845, for the adoption or rejection of statehood as proposed, it was rejected by a vote of 7,235 for, to 7,656 against.

On May 4, 1846, another convention met at Iowa City and continued in session for fifteen days, at which the present boundary lines and present constitution, as originally drawn, was agreed to and the same ratified and adopted by a vote of the people on August 3, 1846. The vote this time was 9,492 for and 9,036 against. This was agreed to by congress and on December 28, 1846, Iowa was admitted as the 29th state in the union.

Store room at Iowa City where the Fourth Territorial Legislature of Iowa held its session in 1841.

The act of congress creating Iowa as a separate territory became effective on July 4, 1838. It provided for the appointment of a governor, whose term should be three years, and for a secretary, chief and two associate justices, a U. S. attorney and a marshal who should serve four years. It also provided for a territorial legislature consisting of a council and a house of representatives, the former to consist of thirteen members and the latter of twenty-six. The same act divided the state into three judicial districts.

The first territorial governor of Iowa was Robert Lucas, ex-governor of Ohio, who was appointed by President Martin Van Buren in 1838. He was succeeded by John Chambers, appointed in 1841, and he by James Clark, appointed in 1845.

The first delegate in congress was William W. Chapman who served in the 25th and 26th congresses. After him came Augustus C. Dodge who served in the 27th, 28th, and 29th congresses; and then in the 30th, 31st, 32nd and 33d congresses as U. S. Senator. Francis Gehon was elected delegate in 1839 but did not serve. In March, 1839, congress passed an act providing that the delegates from Iowa (William W. Chapman) should hold his seat until October, 1840, that the next delegate should only hold his seat until March 4th, following, and after that the term should be two years, the same as other members.

The first governor of Iowa after it became a state was Ansel Briggs of Jackson county, elected in October, 1846. Others in the order of their election and service down to the present time are as follows: Stephen Hempstead, James W. Grimes, Ralph P. Lowe, Samuel J. Kirkwood, William M. Stone, Samuel Merrill, Cyrus C. Carpenter, Samuel J. Kirkwood, Joshua G. Newbold, John H. Gear, Buren R. Sherman, William Larabee, Horace Boles, Frank D. Jackson, Francis M. Drake, Leslie M. Shaw, Albert B. Cummins.

Samuel J. Kirkwood resigned Feb. 1, 1877, to take a seat in the U. S. senate to which he had been elected, and his unexpired term was served out by Lieutenant Governor Joshua G. Newbold, who then became governor for that period.

The first legislative session held in Iowa was that of the territory of Wisconsin held at Burlington, Nov. 10, 1837, to Jan. 20, 1838. The City. During the session John M. Coleman was appointed superintendent of public buildings. In the mean time good building stone had been discovered on the banks of the Iowa river, a few miles above the city, which was quarried and brought down the river on flat boats and work on the building progressed more rapidly.

At the first session of the legislature, after the admission of Iowa as a state, bills were introduced providing for a more central location for the state capital. One of these was passed, in which commissioners were named to select five sections of land in a central location, plat a town, sell lots, etc. The commissioners proceeded and made selection of land in Jasper county, two sections in what is now Des Moines township and the balance in Fairview township, between Prairie City and Monroe. Here they laid out a town, named it Monroe City and held a public sale of lots. Four hundred and fifteen lots were sold. The terms were one-fourth cash and the balance on time. The first report of the commissioners to the legislature showed cash receipts of $1,797.43 while their expenses were $2,206.57. This showing seemed to discourage further proceedings in that line, at that time, and Monroe City was abandoned, and vacated, and lot purchasers refunded their money.

An association of Des Moines business men erected a building for a temporary state capitol and leased it to the state at a nominal rental and on October 19, 1857, Governor Grimes issued a proclamation declaring Des Moines the capital of Iowa. The removal of books and safes was made soon after, the safe of the state treasurer's office being hauled on bobsleds by ten yoke of oxen. On January 11, 1858, the legislature convened for the first time in Des Moines.

in 1870 the legislature made its first definite move towards a new state house. An initial sum of $150,000 was appropriated and a board

The capitol building is an honor to the state and a credit to its builders. It is solid and substantial in structure and handsome in appearance. The total cost was nearly $3,000,000 and the work of construction was carried on by means of legislative appropriations, made from time to time, and no state indebtedness incurred. This great work was completed without a whisper of scandal or unfriendly criticism, and stands as a splendid monument to the honor, integrity and ability of its builders and all in any degree associated with them.

There are sixteen plants that manufacture food preparations, the value of their annual output being over $3,600,000.

There are in the state over 900 cheese, butter and condensed milk factories, their annual product amounting in value to nearly $16,000,000.

The Iowa cow is a great factor in the prosperity of the State. She furnishes calves that grow into beef, and milk to not only feed the calves but from which cream is separated that makes the best butter in the world. The cows of Iowa number about 1,500,000; they are worth an average of about $30 each or $45,000,000. They furnish the cream for 150,000,000 pounds of butter per annum, over half of which is shipped and sold in the markets of the world, and much of the balance is sold at home. And the Iowa cow is not an exhaustor of the soil. It is said that in selling a thousand dollars worth of wheat, about $350 worth of fertility goes with it; that in selling a thousand dollars worth of corn, about $250 worth of fertility is lost; if the thousand dollars worth of grain be used to fatten beef, pork, mutton and poultry, to be sold, not over $25 worth of fertility is lost, but if it is fed to the cows, and milk and butter only is sold, not a dollar's worth of fertility is lost. The product of the cow is clear money, less cost of care, keeping and preparing for market. There is another thing in favor of the dairy industry, the price of butter is remarkably steady and uniform, from year to year. Prices of beef and pork, and of wheat and corn, may fluctuate widely but the price of good butter remains practically the same, year in and year out. That Iowa is especially adapted to this industry is shown by the statement that one-fourth of all the creamery butter sold in the United States is made in this state and that Iowa produces one-tenth of all the butter made on this continent.

The stability of the butter market is shown by the following statement of the average price per pound per annum of fancy western creamery butter in the New York market, the annual average price being made up from monthly averages for each year given: The year 1895, 2190; 1896, 1882; 1897, 1885; 1898, 1971; 1899, 2065; 1900, 227; 1901, 2165; 1902, 2416.

HISTORY OF MARSHALL COUNTY.

Marshall county is very close to the exact center of the state. It is twenty-four miles square, containing 576 square miles of surface or 368,640 acres. Its principal stream is the Iowa river, which crosses the county diagonally to the southeast, leaving about one-fourth of the county to the northeast of it and the balance to the southwest. The North Skunk and its branches, running south, water the southwest corner of the county. Small streams, mostly tributary to the Iowa, are well distributed over the county. The early surveys gave the county about 33,000 acres of timber land, most of it along the Iowa river, but with groves here and there on the smaller streams, the largest being on Timber creek. Nearly all of the surface of the county is high, gently rolling prairie. The slopes to the streams are nearly all smooth and gentle ones, and no finer body of land can be found anywhere than the twenty-four miles square comprising Marshall county. The soil is rich and fertile beyond question or criticism. Building stone is found of excellent quality and several quite extensive quarries are worked. Clay for brick is found in various localities.

The first permanent white settler in the county was Joseph Davison, who located in the east central part of the county in 1847, and was soon joined by his brother, William Davison.

A number of Mormons on their way from Nauvoo to Utah camped in the timber just north of where Marshalltown is located, during the winter of 1846-7. They were in very destitute circumstances, several died and the others moved westward in the spring.

In 1848 Joseph M. Ferguson, Joseph Cooper and perhaps others located near the big grove on Timber creek. In 1850 some of the settlers got into trouble with a few of the Mesquakie Indians during the absence of the chief. Settlers charged the Indians with stealing some hogs and cattle, and some white men and boys retaliated by burning several Indian wigwams while the owners were away on a hunting expedition. Learning of this, the whole settlement became alarmed lest the Indians would seek revenge by destroying the white settlement. So the settlers at once built a stockade and all moved in. It was built of split timber and called Fort Robinson. Messengers were sent to Fort Dodge, where troops were stationed, to secure assistance, but the commander there had no soldiers to spare. While the stockade was being built the Mesquakies came around and inquired what it was for and the whites told them they were fortifying against the Sioux Indians, enemies of the Mesquakies, and they seemed to believe it and tendered their services to aid the whites. No trouble ensued and the Indians were soon after removed west of the Missouri river. It is said that twenty-four families took refuge within the stockade, among whom were the following: W. C. Smith, John Campbell, A. J. Smith, John Braddy, William Ralle, G. S. Ralle, James A. Logan, Thomas Pearson, James Pearson, Blakely Brush, Joseph Cooper, J. M. Ferguson, S. Meyers, Carpenter Geer, Thomas Sherman, William Asher, Washington Acher, John Duck, Riley Majore, Samuel Bowman, a Mr. Clifton and a Mr. Crowder. James A. Logan was captain of the garrison. The above no doubt constituted a large per cent of the settlers in the county at that time.

The county was organized in 1849, J. M. Ferguson being organizing sheriff. J. Hobbs was elected the first county judge; Jacob Hauwer, clerk; Zeno Freeman, treasurer, and John Amos, Greenburg Ralle and William Ballard, county commissioners.

In 1851 the county seat was located at a point about four miles northwest of the present site of Marshalltown. A town was surveyed and platted that year and the place named Marietta, and the new town soon became the most important point in the county. Its first postmaster and merchant was William Diehon. The next merchant was Mahon Collins, and the next a Mr. Darlington. Doctors Whealen and Nixon located there and were the first physicians in the county.

The first court in the county was held in a little log cabin just north of the present site of Marshalltown. William H. McKay was judge and among the attorneys were Enoch Eastman, Judge Severe, of Oskaloosa, and Judge Cassidy, of Dee Moines. Only one case was tried and that was a divorce suit, separating William Davison and wife.

In 1853 a new town was laid out and called Marshalltown, and at once began to lay plans to secure from Marietta the county seat. A merry war ensued that at times became most bitter and close to bloodshed, and was carried on until decided by the supreme court in 1859 in favor of Marshalltown.

HISTORY OF THE CITY OF MARSHALLTOWN.

MARSHALLTOWN is situated on a handsome piece of ground near the Iowa river, some four miles east and a trifle north of the exact center of the county. The city, which now contains over 12,500 inhabitants, was first laid out in 1853 by Henry Anson, Esq. He lived at the time at what is now known as 108 West Main street, in a log cabin, having come here in 1851 with the intention of farming on an extensive scale. But the shire town of Marshall county, Marietta, was situated on a spot where the beach sands from the Iowa river met the bayous, a low, straggling, desolate village, that looked like the abodes of brigands and vagrants. Mr. Anson, upon returning from a visit there, conceived the idea that a part of his farm could be laid off into lots. In time these were bought by newcomers who poured into the county this season; and as improvements were made and houses built, Marshalltown did become a village of no mean pretensions on account of the beauty of its location. The Iowa river, about a mile north, had a magnificent water power; there was a long range of forest which stretched its dark lines against the sky for several miles around; Linn creek washed its southern border; and although it was not as central as Marietta, yet its superior advantage compensated for this lack.

In the scheme of building up a new town Mr. Anson was aided by two brothers-in-law, Hon. Wells S. Rice and Mr. John Kelley. Both were men of energy and pluck; they had bought land for farming purposes near Mr. Anson. Sylvanus Rice lived not far away, who was calculated to enter into the scheme with enthusiasm.

The town was surveyed in June, 1853, by Mr. S. Risdon, of Iowa City. Albion and Le Grand had been surveyed the year previous, and a few rough cabins told of the work that had been done. But Mr. Anson, with the indomitable will which knows nothing of failure, went on with his plans. Some lots were given away, and when a prairie schooner was headed toward Marietta, the earnest proprietor persuaded the driver to unload his children and household plunder at Marshalltown, the county seat of Marshall county. "What do you mean, sir?" said one tolerably well-poised, "is not Marietta on the map as the county seat?" "Well, yes," said Anson, "but this is to be the capital, and that too within a few months." He generally got nine out of ten to remain.

In this plan he was greatly assisted by Dr. John Childs, who kept the hotel of the new village in the first frame house built on the town plat, at the corner of Center and Main streets, where the City National Bank now stands. Everything was pleasant and neat about the hotel. Dr. Childs lived in a cabin, thirteen feet square, previous to his tavern experience. In this cabin a Cumberland Presbyterian clergyman held divine services—the first sermon preached in Marshalltown. Mr. Childs moved his furniture out of doors, with the exception of the chairs. About thirty persons attended services.

Mr. Anson was chosen justice of the peace, and at his election—the first held in the embryo city—the ballots were dropped into a little paper box, through the window of his cabin. He afterward served as county surveyor.

C. B. Straight built one of the first frame houses in the village on the spot where I. J. Sanford's residence now stands, one house west of the Central Fire Station. All the houses built were small, this one having only a large room and a pantry. The lumber had to be transported over the bridgeless elougs and Indian trails from Iowa City and Oskaloosa.

The first funeral was at the home of Silas Chorn on the 10th of August, 1853. It was a gloomy occasion, for there was scarcely a word of ceremony—no prayer, no hymn; but the pine coffin was slowly let down into the grave, with the twitter of a blackbird in the scrub oaks and the cobs of the poor mother as the clouds fell upon the boards with a heavy thud.

The story brought to Mr. Henry Anson's cabin one pleasant morning a sunny-faced boy whose name was Adrien. In every-day life he was called "Ade"—the first baby boy in Marshalltown; who was some years ago the active captain of the Chicago Baseball Club. The first wedding in the village was Miles Rice, who was married to Emma Anson; and Horace Anson to Emmeline Smith. These happy couples were married by a Timber creek justice, and in a wedding tour of seven miles was crowded no much pleasure as many have when it is extended to Saratoga.

The social life reveals itself in the amusements of the times, which were dancing on the puncheon-floors, hunting the squirrel at their gathering, kissing the girls when "going to Rome," and rummaging the forest for wild plums and wild apples, in parties of a dozen or so. Sometimes the wagons which carried these jolly young folks were drawn by oxen, giving ample time for songs and jokes on the road.

An old man named Haynes built a rude distillery in the northwestern part of the village, near the creek, constructing his receivers for the liquor out of old-fashioned "dugouts." Hunters came on horseback with a bag of corn and a jug, emptying the corn into a h.2p in a corner, and would then turn to the trough and pour the clear whiskey into the jug without using a graduating scale or measure, the whiskey at the best being worth only 50 cents per gallon.

WAR ON MARIETTA.

In 1853 Henry Anson and Wells S. Rice inaugurated the war on Marietta in legal form. Atwater, of Marietta, the prosecuting attorney of the county, was approached by the above gentlemen and presented with several valuable town lots in Marshalltown. Other gifts were also made to him, so that at the next term of court Atwater entered into a long argument, declaring that in his opinion the location of the county seat was illegal, for there were only two commissioners present at the time, instead of three, as the legislature had directed and appointed.

Upon the winding up of this argument, Judge McKay appointed three more commissioners to look up the matter and visit both locations—William Taylor, of Tama county; William Woods, of Story county, and a gentleman from Jasper county, name unknown. When this trio of worthies came to Marshalltown, Meers, Anson and Rice talked very pleasantly—had a good dinner prepared, made each one a present of a shotgun, and the new appointees set the stakes for the new county seat at Marshalltown.

In the meantime the Marietta Queen had got the ear of Judge McKay and he revoked the appointments. The Marshalltown junta also procured a writ of mandamus through Atwater, compelling the removal of the county seat to their city. This was done for the sake of keeping up an excitement, so as to bring the matter before the people of the county, with the intention of carrying it by a vote. No further record of the county seat contest appears till 1856, and we therefore turn to other subjects of local history.

The first celebration in Marshall county of our nation's birthday was held in 1853 on the public square, where the court house now stands in Marshalltown. Invitations were extended throughout the Iowa valley, and everybody came and partook of the free dinner provided by the hospitable and ambitious village. Dr. Bisell, who was chief marshal on this occasion, called for cheers. An old lady present who heard the call gave a young girl who sat in front of her a push, with—"Don't ye hear them call for cheers? Git up—ain't ye got no manners!" But the old-set inhabitant has reformed the pronunciation of "chairs."

Mr. Atwater, the prosecuting attorney for the county, was the orator on that occasion. Dr. Childs led the singing, delighting the crowd with "Hail Columbia."

In 1854 the town proper was built on Main street, west of the Willard House, and commerce did not find a new channel to the east end for several years. Deer shot down Main street like arrows as late as 1854, while wolves howled two squares off, making the night hideous with their noise.

A Sabbath school was organized in the summer of 1854 with Mr. Yeamans as superintendent and John Kelley as librarian. Mr. Webster Weecott and Fether Hoffman, with their families, exercised in the little school their bible knowledge, and sang the songs of Zion with religious fervor and power.

The year of 1856 was a prosperous one to Iowa; immigration flowed in freely to all parts of the county. Webster's addition to Marshalltown improved in value, for many buildings went up in that locality.

Percy C. Holcomb established the first hardware store in the city. John Utz, formerly from Virginia, started a grocery. E. Brooks was at work on all the buildings as a first-class carpenter, and Squire Gregg, a tall, ungainly lawyer, pettifogged in the justice courts of the city. Dr. Taylor, instead of being in a drug store and representing a large district in the legislature, was journeying over the country, enjoying a large practice of medicine. S. Lacey, Esq., a former councilman, bought a part of the grocery owned by Mr. Utz, having recently emigrated from Connecticut, and later on formed a partnership with Mr. Allen, the firm being known as Lacey & Allen. This firm did a business of fifty thousand dollars a year.

The Methodist church congregation in 1856 worshipped in the frame school house, Rev. Armstrong being pastor, with a membership of but twenty-eight persons.

Father Dunton, a local preacher at the time, was founder of the Marshall mission in 1851, soon after the Anson cabin was built. The first camp meeting was held at Griffith's mill in 1853. The M. E. church, now the Sieg Theater, is the oldest building in the city, having been built in 1854 at a cost of about four thousand dollars.

The Presbyterian church was organized in 1858, and their church edifice was completed in 1865, under the pastoral care of Rev. De Loss.

The Baptists were organized in 1883 with sixteen members, meeting in the courthouse for worship. Their first pastor was Rev. Willy, a sainted preacher who died young in his Master's work.

Through the winter of 1855-56 a preliminary survey was made through Marshall county for the building of a railroad from Fulton, on the Mississippi river, taking rather a circuitous route to Council Bluffs.

A strong immigration coming into the county for two years had strengthened both Marietta and Marshalltown for the contest to be the capital of the county. Albion also had the same metropolitan aspirations, with a preponderance in favor of Marshalltown. Judge Woodbury had built a mill on the Iowa river at Xenia. He brought capital to town, and, equally pertensions with Rice and Anson, was determined on making it the county seat. Every inducement was held out by the Marshalltown men to immigrants to stay here; Willigrod sold dry goods cheap; Anson sold town lots cheap, giving some away; old Mr. Rice persuaded—Dr. Glick persuaded—Father Dunton persuaded Methodists; so that the town built up at the expense of Marietta, which was called the "Swamp Kingdom," "Frog's Paradise," etc.

At the spring election, 1856, Marshalltown was balloted for as county seat. But Iowa township and Albion threw the balance of votes in favor of Marietta; and being the most thickly settled, the odds went against "Anson's Potato Patch" in the contest. LeGrand voted with Marietta—the idea being prevalent that if the capital was not located at Marshalltown, it might float around and finally settle at LeGrand. This village was laid out in 1852, at the same time with Albion.

The founder of LeGrand, James Allman, was a man of considerable enterprise. M. Webb, the Voorhees and Hiram Hammond were among the early settlers. In the township was Ami Willetta, Rollin Richards and Mathew Arnold. Among the Friends we might also mention Philemon Jones and Mr. McCool.

LeGrand attempted to make itself a county seat by petitioning the legislature to create a new county out of Tama, Grundy and Marshall; but failing in this, and having voted twice with Marietta, LeGrand finally decided to kill off Marietta by bringing the county seat to Marshalltown, so as to have it near at home.

The people of Marshalltown horrified from the M. E. church eight hundred dollars, subscriptions were asked of every man living within her borders to add to this sum, and a town hall or courthouse was built in the fall of 1857 and spring of 1858. Henry Hartwell gave a nice sum on the brick, and if a man was too poor to give any money he was politely asked to bring his team, or his own right arm into the service, and work on the town hall.

After getting the building ready for the April election, this neat and commodious brick structure was freely given for a courthouse to the people of Marshall county, if by their votes they made Marshalltown the county seat. With a supreme effort—a mighty wrestle—the courageous rival of Marietta plucked the crown from her brow, and received a majority of the votes, making her the capital.

Marietta stood abashed; something must be done. In counting the votes it was discovered that the returns from Marion, LeGrand and Greencastle were not dated, and not certified in a proper manner by the township officers; so the county canvassers threw out the returns from those townships, and declared through the county judge that Marietta had a majority.

This action of Judge Smith was a bitter pill to Marshalltown. They had spent too many bottles of whisky, packages of tea, dried apples and plugs of tobacco upon the election to have it turn around in this manner. From Marshalltown headquarters representations were sent to Judge Thompson, presiding at the district court, who finally issued an alternative writ of mandamus, commanding Judge Smith to re-canvass the returns, including the rejected townships, and declare the result with his reasons for so doing, and this he was to do on or before the third day of the term of court.

Judge Smith filed exceptions, and refusing to answer or re-canvass another writ was issued, peremptorily ordering him to re-canvass the returns. This writ he disobeyed, and appealed the case to the supreme court, where it was argued at the June term, 1858. In the following December term of the supreme court the case came up again. William Penn Clark of Iowa City was counsel for Marshalltown and Hon. C. C. Cole of Des Moines for Marietta. The judgment of the lower court was affirmed.

In the early part of January, 1859, the clerk of the supreme court issued a peremptory mandamus, ordering Judge Smith, with the board of canvassers, to count the returns again. This was done and again the board threw out the returns of the rejected townships, Judge Smith dissenting, for Judge Colt had told them the law read, "There shall be no disfranchisement except in case of actual fraud."

Of course there could be no removal under this action of the board. This tried the patience of the Marshalltown men, who filed information against Judge Smith, Hon. John Turner and Justice Wallahan, these gentlemen being brought to the irate village of Marshalltown for trial.

On a writ of habeas corpus issued by J. L. Williams, county clerk, acting as judge in the interests of Marietta, Messrs. Turner and Wallahan were released, but Judge Smith in some way did not get off so easily. There was a plot for him to remain. Hon. W. P. Hepburn was prosecuting attorney in the case; Hon. H. C. Henderson of Marshalltown, assistant counsel; Hon. H. E. J. Boardman of Marietta for the defense.

Pending the trial there was great excitement at the town hall. On the last evening of the proceedings the lie was given by Boardman to Henderson. The excited lawyer drew up to the Marietta counsel, came in hand, demanding immediate retraction. A few of Boardman's backers huddled a little closer around their champion. The hall was crowded with angry men from the village, who, of course, sided with Henderson, and some one cried, "Blow out the lights, lynch the Marietta rascals."

Some of the candles disappeared, but there was enough light to show Boardman in the table—pale, yet cool, and waving his hand with a tragic look: "Gentlemen, you can impose upon Marietta and her rights now, but you will feel different when the cold steel of a hundred bayonets is running through your hearts!" After this hisilutin, and not really wishing to have a bloody fight, the crowd surged down stairs, and there was a cry made for Judge Smith to show himself.

What the mob did this night has always been explained so unsatisfactorily to a reporter that we on the rising of the sun open a new scene. Judge Smith is seated in the upper chamber of Rev. Babcock's house, with a table before him, and a sheet of paper with the county seal upon one corner of the leaf. The room was crowded with prominent men from Marshalltown, as witnesses to an order for a re-canvass of the votes, and a removal of the county records.

Judge Smith, a prisoner and under the ban of the law, yet issues the order as he was expected to do by the witnesses.

"Where did you get the county seal?" asked the judge. No one answered him, but Mr. Woodbury afterwards told his friends how he managed it. A few days before, being in Marietta on business, he slyly slipped a piece of paper under the county seal, secured an impression, and then made off with it with other papers folded carelessly around it. This made Judge Smith's order legal.

Another piece of finesse on the part of Marshalltown was record to show the care that was taken not to give Marietta the least advantage. The signing of the jurat at the election of 1858 in Marshall township was neglected and the poll books had gone into the hands of the county judge, who lived at Marietta. Old Mr. Rice and Father Dunton went in the dead of night, got the books, and waking up the careless officers, had the returns signed properly, and carried them back to Marietta before anybody was stirring. This, too, in the face of legal proceedings, and under the nose of the board of canvassers.

But we hasten to the morning of the 11th of January, 1859, that dawned upon the rival towns, cold and frosty. Judge Smith's order had been promulgated by messengers to the friends of Marshalltown throughout the county, and urging them to come forward and help the sheriff bring the records down to their village. Harris, the sheriff, lived there, and his interests of course lay with them. Previous to this a militia company called the "Bowen Guards" had become quite formidable in appearance, on drill and parade through the streets of the town.

Sheriff Harris, after partaking of a hearty breakfast, ordered the Bowen Guards, Captain Shurtz commanding, "to appear before the courthouse in Marietta, Marshall county, armed and equipped as by law required," etc. There were also instructions not to swear or hurt any one, but other duties were left to conjecture—the object being really to intimidate Marietta, thinking she would give up the records when the army should appear before her gates.

The Bowen Guards had sent to Fort Dodge and got a few guns. Every warlike weapon that could be found was scoured up ready for the contest. Wagons came in from the country filled with armed men. Orderlies were flying about with dispatches from Woodbury to Henderson, from Rice to both, from Anson all around town. Brigadier-General Hambel and Kelley took charge of the corps of observation, consisting mostly of young men and boys, who went ahead to the western bill between the two villages. Chaplain Babcock was hustling about with his white cravat, making calculations as to the number of wounded to be taken care of. Ferguson and Cooper told Indian stories, while Judge Smith remained a silent yet fearful spectator of these warlike preparations. Women bade their loved ones good-bye with agonized hearts, fearing that their husbands and sons might be brought back corpses or maimed for life.

The Bowen Guards moved forward—E. Shurtz, captain; Wells Rice, first lieutenant; George Hampton, second lieutenant—and behind the militia came wagons filled with belligerent farmers, and armed men on horseback, the whole army about six hundred strong, which finally drew up in front of the town of Marietta, ready for fight.

In the meantime the county seat had been busy. Friends from Liberty, Minerva, Eden and Iowa townships came into town, armed to the teeth, to defend the records from the profane hands of the goths from Marshalltown.

This motley army was under the control of W. W. Weatherly, ex-sheriff, one of the best natured men in the world, and with scarcely belligerent propensities enough to kill a chicken, except when roused. A keg of powder was placed under the safe of the courthouse to blow the records and raiders to atoms, rather than have the books go into the hands of "the robbers."

Patterson of Patterson's Grove, who had been in the Mexican war, was a sort of aid-de-camp to Weatherly. Turner, Williams, Abel, Boardman, all stood waiting on the steps of the courthouse for the army to attack.

Many of the young boys of Marietta were armed with rifles; some had hatchets and axes; and a man named Daly was seen with an old-fashioned sausage stuffer, squirting muddy water at the invaders. Women were also armed with guns. The roofs and windows of some of the buildings near the courthouse were lighted by the angry looks of their owners. Crookham made his will, then stood trembling like an aspen near the Shively house, awaiting the bloody fray. Mr. Dishon and Quincy Black marched around their firesides, pistols in hands, to defend their wives and children, for the threat had come up to Marietta that the invaders would burn it if the records were not given up.

Sheriff Harris left the guards just outside the village gates, and presented Judge Smith's order very courteously to Mr. Weatherly, who quietly refused to give up the records, believing that some foul means had been used to procure the document. Harris was to return to the guards and tell them when to advance. The hungry army waited till afternoon and no sheriff appearing to lead them on, Shurtz, Rice and Hampton, after consultation, concluded to go on without him, and this page of war history in Marshall county is made brighter by the advance of the army to the courthouse.

But it was a sorry march. Women and children flouted and jeered at the poor guards; some threw decayed hen fruit and vegetables; and with a great deal of discomfort if not much dignity, the vanguard drew up in front of the courthouse.

Harris now made his appearance, ordering wagons drawn up into lines for breastworks. There was not much military precision, for guards, officers and armed citizens of Marshalltown slowly filed in front of the courthouse, where the Marietta army was entrenched. The armies were within sixteen feet of each other, and when their rifles were raised not a sound was heard just then but the click of guns. Hepburn, who stood rather in front of the guards, looked right and left; saw they were being flanked on all sides; an old enemy not ten feet away with his hand on the trigger of his gun, and became suddenly aware of the fearful consequences of the result. Calling out to Weatherly, "For God's sake, don't shoot!" the Marshalltown men threw up the sponge.

There was threatening and oaths between Sam Hoffman and Alex Crow; the rain of blood was just ready to burst upon these deluded men on both sides, when Boardman advanced a step or two, after Hepburn's speech, and in a calm, clear voice read an injunction from Judge Thompson of the district court, a higher power than Judge Smith, restraining Marshalltown from removing the records.

How this was done in the face of the action of the supreme court we have no means of knowing, but the injunction proved a benediction to the crowd, and the Bowen Guards slipped away on the homeward march. Harris could not be found. One of the guards returned to the ranks who had left with a fearful stomach ache; another went away to light his pipe; one valiant Marietta man emerged from a pile of rails; but most of the smiles were real belligerents.

Had there been a chance shot among the boys—had Harris in the beginning rushed into the court house—had there been less discipline, there is no telling what horrors might have been committed. Providence certainly watched over these half-crazed men.

Outsiders began to talk over the injunction; some of the army went off swearing at the judge for spoiling the fight; and by sunset the contest was fairly over. Marietta was the county seat of Marshall county in spite of guard and musket, wearing her diadem with undiminished luster, without sending a single hero of the day's battle to the shades of Valhalla.

The guards appeared before the gates of Marshalltown, without county records, without ashes of Marietta buildings, without scalps or smell of gunpowder upon their clothing, but the soldiers were awfully tired and hungry.

Messengers had been bringing in false reports from the scene of action. One reported "the streets of Marietta are running with blood;" "Wells Rice killed;" until the village on Linn creek was wild with excitement. When the doughty army came home safe and sound, the rebound from the dismal feeling of noon was wonderful. Wives joked their warlike husbands; suppers were got in a merry mood and the meal ended under more happy auspices than the gloomy breakfast.

Marietta was in trouble the next day for fear the raiders might return, but the plumes of the Marshalltown soldiers did not appear above the hills—this was the last of the army. Several quarrels came off; precautions were taken to defend the Marietta courthouse and the Marshalltown hall, but there was no more fighting on the field.

On the 13th of January, 1859, Judge Smith, from his office in Marietta, issued county bonds to William Dishon, merchant, to build a new courthouse in Marietta, to the amount of twenty-six thousand dollars. Mr. Dishon went to New York and traded these bonds for goods. It cost the county eight thousand dollars to release these bonds. Dishon did not even lay the foundations of a new structure.

At the April term of the district court, the mandamus of the supreme court came up again. An attachment was issued against Judge Smith for contempt, as it will be remembered he did not re-canvass at the proper time; but the real reason for this action of the Marshalltown lawyers was that Judge Smith had gone over to the Marietta interest after issuing the famous order. Governor Eastman at this term of the district court made several speeches upon the matter. Marietta had, it was said, a band of men, pledged in secret to slay and destroy, if her rival attempted to take the safes from the courthouse, even if the courts decided in her favor.

The last injunction of Judge Thompson was brought up in the supreme court at the June term, 1859. In December the whole matter was reviewed again, and a decision again given in favor of Marshalltown, which finally ended the controversy, to the great joy of her citizens. Marietta had by this time tired of the expense; some were making preparations to leave; so there was no demonstration made against the removal of the far-famed records, which were securely locked in the iron safe belonging to the county. The aforesaid safe was placed upon a sled drawn by six yoke of oxen, and on New Year's day, 1860, the archives were put in the keeping of the proper officers in the town hall, or what was thereafter known as the courthouse in Marshalltown. A reception was given to the citizens of Marietta in the afternoon; a free dinner; speeches were made, toasts drank, and never was fraternization carried on more rapidly, or with deeper feeling. For several years Marietta officers were re-elected; the buildings from the despoiled town followed her officers; Waters, Turner, Abel, Boardman, Arnold, Holmes and Wheelan came to Marshalltown to live.

The removal of the county seat was a grand spoke in the wheel of fortune to Marshalltown. The survey of the Cedar Rapids and Missouri River railroad was then made, which brought up town lots to a good figure. Mr. Woodbury, of the enterprising village, was chosen vice-president of the company, and by his masterly efforts brought the railroad to its borders in March, 1863. This is the Chicago & Northwestern railroad of to-day.

The citizens of the new-found city invited Chicago and the rest of the world to visit them—feasting, dancing, speeches and congratulations were the order of things.

The war of the rebellion called out about eleven hundred soldiers from the county, and many brave officers. At the close of active service veterans came home with greenbacks, and a stream of emigration followed to all parts. Lands rose in value, business was lively, so that in five years Marshalltown had 300 per cent increase in population.

In 1870, about the 1st of April, the Central Railroad of Iowa was finished, which brought the city in direct communication with St. Paul and St. Louis, the coal regions of Oskaloosa and the pineries of the north making a market for grain and produce which added much to the wealth of the city and county.

The city now has fine business buildings, handsome residences and some of the best kept and most attractive streets and avenues of any city in the West. It has an electric street railway, fine system of waterworks, fire department, gas and electric light plants, complete sewerage system, a splendid courthouse, costing $150,000, extensive wholesale houses, factories for the manufacture of wagons, buggies, steel furnaces, water governors, drop forges, canned goods, steam and gasoline engines, flour, vinegar, pickles, water heaters, bricks, cigars, etc., etc. It has a pork packing establishment, four banks, a daily, semi-weekly and two or three newspapers, twelve fine church edifices, excellent schools, Dudley College, a flourishing Catholic institution, and is the location of the Iowa Soldiers' Home.

STATE CENTER is on the Chicago & Northwestern and Iowa Central railways, in the west central part of the county. It has a population of about 1,100, two banks, newspaper, opera house, waterworks, fire department, electric lights, creamery, excellent schools and five churches.

GILMAN is on the Iowa Central railroad, in the southeast corner of the county. It has a population of about 500, bank, canning factory, brick and tile works, newspaper, graded school and two churches.

Minerva Township.

By REV. A. J. BOEHM.

Minerva township, in Marshall county, Iowa, probably represents one of the most prosperous communities of farmers in the State of Iowa. Not any of them when coming here forty years ago were abundantly provided with the necessities of life, but hard labor, perseverance and thrift have been crowned with success, and today they are all in good circumstances. Success, however, has not turned their hearts and heads so as to only prepare for their earthly welfare, but they have also used some of their time for things spiritual. The result is the Evangelical Lutheran Church. This society was organized by the zealous missionary, Rev. F. Doscher, on the 17th of April, 1865. A constitution was adopted and signed by fifteen voting members, of whom the following four are still living: Henry Smith, Henry Oehlsen, Sr., Louie Hartwig and Louie Frohwein. Although having a hard struggle as pioneers they nevertheless called Rev. C. F. Herman as their pastor and supported him as circumstances permitted. The small flock grew considerably under this pastorate. Besides tending to his ministerial duties, he began teaching a parochial school and within a few years it became necessary to call a special teacher. This school is kept up to the present day, the members sending their children to it as soon as age and distance will permit. All the branches of the common school are taught in English and religion in the German language. The society has a fine property in the most conspicuous place of the township, consisting of a church edifice 30x60, gallery on three sides, seating capacity 600 people, a spire of seventy-five feet with an 1,800-pound bell in it and a $1,000 pipe organ adorning the interior. Besides this there is a neat schoolhouse and a modern parsonage on a five-acre tract of land and three-acre cemetery. It is a custom among these people whenever money is needed for church or benevolent purposes to supply it themselves, without the aid of fairs and suppers. The present pastor, Rev. A. J. Boehm, has been connected with the church fifteen years. Under his leadership the church has prospered remarkably, in spite of the continuous drain it suffers by retired farmers moving out of the parish and a great many young pulling stakes for newer farm countries. St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church now numbers 300 communicant members and 590 souls; at the same time being the mother church of its faith in this county, and of which another Lutheran church of about the same size has been organized in State Center.

Minerva Township.

Minerva township is in the extreme western part of Marshall county and is, from an agricultural point of view, one of the best in the county. The soil, with the exception of that in the northeast corner, which is somewhat sandy, is a rich clay loam in a high state of cultivation and yields fine crops of all descriptions. There is very little waste land, the low wet places having been nearly all tilled out. Fine houses and barns have been built on most of the farms to take the place of the smaller ones of the pioneer days, and one has only to drive through the township to realize that the farmers are wide awake and up to date. The land is well watered by numerous streams, of which Minerva creek is the largest.

The southern part of the township was settled by an intelligent class of Germans who came in the early "sixties," and who by thrift and economy have become wealthy. The northern part was settled by people of different nationalities who have kept pace with their neighbors of the south.

The first land was entered by Robert Elder, who came from Greensburg, Ind., with a land warrant given him by his father, who was a soldier in the Mexican War. With Elder came a Mr. Patterson, who located in what afterward became known as Patterson's Grove. Meers, Elder and Patterson both went back to Indiana and in 1851 accompanied by William McCormick came and settled permanently. They had two yoke of oxen and a span of horses, and in two lumber wagons brought all their household goods, farm implements, etc. Two years later Daniel Stevens came and settled in Patterson's Grove; George Wantz came with his family in 1854; John and Joe Anselm, two sturdy Frenchmen, came the same year and settled not far from the others. William Clemens also came in 1855 and bought out Mr. Elder, who not long after failed in business and went to Kansas, where he afterward became wealthy.

At about this time came Mr. Pfantz, who settled on land now owned by his son, Henry Pfantz. The LaPlants and Eckhardt came in the early "fifties."

The south part of the township was settled somewhat later by the German colonists mentioned in the first part of this sketch. Henry L. Smith and Mr. Schaper came at the close of the Civil War, after having served as soldiers in the Federal army. Mention might be made of many more, but space will not permit.

The first schoolhouse in the township was built at the south end of Patterson's Grove, in 1856. It was built of logs, and here was held the first township election. The first school teacher was George Magee, Jr., who came to the township in 1855 with his parents, his father, George Magee, Sr., being the first justice of the peace. Religious services were held at the different houses until 1859, when a church was built on the line between Minerva and Liberty townships. The first service in this church was conducted by a Mr. Krill, by faith a Dunkard, and the first regular pastor was Judge Smith, of Marshalltown. Oliver Hamilton built the first store in 1858, all the goods sold having been hauled from Iowa City by team. This store was run only a short time, one being opened a few years later by a Mr. Darner in what is now Clemens.

After the "sixties," people came in so fast that it would be impossible to mention them here, but they have helped to make Minerva township second to none in the county.

Timber Creek Township.

By B. F. SMITH.

The first party of settlers of Timber Creek township consisted of Joseph Cooper, David E. Cooper, J. M. Ferguson, John Campbell and

Dr. E. B. Bush. They reached Timber creek on the 13th day of March, 1848, and there camped for the night. On the morning of the 14th they decided to examine the country before making claims. They went north past the present site of Marshalltown and reached the river below Marietta; thence proceeded up the river and part of them stayed with Dr. Bush, who had entered a claim in the northwest part of the county. D. E. Cooper remained over night with Curtis Dooley, who, with Joab Bennett, had settled in that vicinity, but they never became citizens of the county, as they remained but a short time. On the morning of the 15th the party went up to the west fork of the Iowa river, but found no site that pleased them so well as the original selection on Timber Creek.

On the 18th of March these men took claims on the site first chosen by blazing trees and driving stakes. The country was green with grass at that early season of the year; in all directions the fresh growth of herbage was beautiful to the eye and the pioneers agreed in calling it a lovely region. Soon the party returned to Jasper county and prepared to return to Marshall county as soon as possible. On April 1 the little band came on and this time W. C. Smith, William Springer and J. F. M. Cooper accompanied them. The Coopers bought ox teams and Mr. Smith a team of horses, which were the first teams in this county.

In 1848 to 1850 the pioneers of Marshall county were compelled to go to Oskaloosa for their provisions, but during the years 1851 to 1853 the natural channel of trade opened into Iowa City and continued there until 1858, when the railroad diverted it toward Cedar Rapids.

The milling devices were very crude in 1849, as is shown by the following incident. One day Francis M. Cooper and William Asher took two bushels of corn to the first mill built in that county and concluded to wait for their grist. They went into the timber and hunted for bee trees until 3 o'clock (five hours after they handed in their grist) and when they returned there was still half a bushel of corn in the hopper.

John Haines brought the first threshing machine into the county in 1854. The pioneers had to go thirty-five miles to get their plows sharpened and from forty to fifty miles to get their corn cracked, as wheat was not to be had. The early settlers all located in the timber and along the edges, as coming from a timber country, they thought they could not stand the prairie. In those days the winters were very severe and snow very deep. Game of all kinds, elk, deer, turkey, etc., a man could go out and kill before breakfast. There were also a great many wild animals, such as panthers, wildcats, wolves, otter and beaver.

The first white settlers in Timber Creek township came in 1848 with their covered wagons and oxen to settle in the "far West," and located in Timber Creek Grove, which consisted of about 28,000 acres, and I in my boyhood days thought it the garden spot of the world. The good fathers and mothers commenced to unload their kettles and fix for camping, and there were many hardships to contend with. All around them were vast prairies, timber, howling wolves and Indians; no roads to travel and they found their way by guess.

The year of 1850 was a notable one in the annals of the county because of an Indian scare. The Indians were reported as being very wild and hostile and rumors were afloat about the conduct of the braves near Indian town, their headquarters in the adjoining county of Tama. At that place there were about 1,500 warriors and they became very ugly and threatening, so the pioneers set about erecting a fort or stockade in which they could gather their families together for safety until the danger was past. The fort was ninety feet wide, built of puncheons driven like piles into the ground, so that the walls were about ten feet high. This they called Fort Robinson. It was built on the north side of Timber creek on a large knoll overlooking the country for miles, and at the time of the rumored outbreak twenty-four families took refuge there.

The first postoffice in the county was located on Section 34, Township 83 North, Range 18 West, in the present township of Timber Creek. William C. Smith was appointed postmaster by Honorable Nathan K. Hall, Postmaster General. The appointment was made June 13, 1850, and the commission bears the date of July 10, 1850. The post route was from the office in Timber Creek township to Newton, Jasper county, Iowa, and the service was weekly. A. J. Smith was contractor and carried the mail for the net proceeds of the Timber Creek office.

The following is a song much prized by Mr. Smith and which he learned in camp at Murfreesboro, Tenn., in the spring of 1863. It has been reported that the man who sang it later turned out to be a rebel spy:

"The fortunes of war often change, boys,
And trifles will oft turn the scale,
And heavy the blows that we strike, boys,
We find that the truest may fail.
But where is the heart to despair, boys,
And who shall advise to turn back?
We just add a little more steam, boys,
To rush our good cause o'er the track.

CHORUS.

"O! we will not retreat any more, boys,
We will not retreat any more.
We number the match, the enemy we catch,
We will not retreat any more.

"We battled true long for the right, boys,
Regardless for ration or gold.
We have suffered from hunger and thirst, boys,
We have tramped through the heat and the col
But let our brave leaders once call, boys,
We rush to the fray as before.
We are ready to fight and to die, boys,
But not to retreat any more.

CHORUS.

"We often go home in our dreams, boys,
And sit by the old kitchen fire,
And tell of the tales of our camps, boys,
For listeners never will tire,
But just at the moment of bliss, boys,
While thinking our hardships are o'er,
The order comes round to turn out, boys,
Fall in and tramp as before.

CHORUS.

"Our comrades fill many graves, boys,
Our brothers are crippled and maimed,
And who of them as they fell, boys,
The country need not be ashamed.
We sigh for the blessings of peace, boys,
We tire for the war bugle's blast,
We will conquer before we go home, boys,
We fight for our flag to the last."

CHORUS.

A Brief History of the Immaculate Conception Church, Haverhill, Iowa.

Early in the sixties, we find amongst the settlers in the townships of Jefferson, Logan and Washington, in Marshall county, the names of Martin Lally, Peter McCann, James Harrington, Wm. O'Brien, Mike McMahon, Ben H. Welp. A few years later, new emigrants came from Illinois and Wisconsin—J. B. Determan, H. Holdgrafer, Alb. Imholt, Kilian Kunkel, H. Lemker, Clem Kobbe and John Knoll. Rev. T. Brommenschenkel, Pastor of Marshalltown, united the scattered Catholics in 1870, and was succeeded by Reverends J. Barry, T. J. Portz, and James Murphy.

In 1877, the 20th day of October, twelve German and nine English speaking families held a meeting for the purpose of erecting a Roman Catholic Church in Jefferson Township. A little frame church, 24x44 feet was built on a piece of ground, donated by Bern. H. Welp. On the 8th of December, 1879, the little frame church in Jefferson Township was completed and the first services were held therein by Rev. J. Murphy. From 1881 to 1884, the Rev. Bern. A. Schulte, from State Center, took charge of the little congregation in Jefferson Township. In extending the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R. from Marion, Iowa, to Omaha, Neb., in 1881, the town Haverhill was platted.

The first resident priest was Rev. F. Brune, from October 17, 1884, to October 4, 1894. The frame church was moved to Haverhill and enlarged. His successor was the present Rev. Father Jos. M. Schlueter, from October 16, 1894.

A new Sisters' house was erected 1898. The present beautiful St. Mary's Church was commenced 1901 and completed and dedicated on October 22, 1902. The cost of same was $25,000.00. The congregation is composed of seventy-five families.

The plans and specifications were made by Guido Beck, a well known architect of Dubuque. The church is a beautiful Gothic design, built of brick, is 48 feet wide, 115 feet long with the outside walls 23 feet high. The interior decorations throughout are marked by rare taste and choice delicateness. The frescoing is a soft, creamy effect. A series of masterly oil paintings grace the sides of the central arcade. The stained glass windows are beautiful. A visit to the Immaculate Conception Church, at Haverhill, is well worth the time to anyone.

THE PAROCHIAL SCHOOL.

By REV. SCHLUETER.

The necessity of a school to give the little ones a solid christian education was felt most keenly by the founders of the Immaculate Conception Church, in Jefferson Township. A school was opened in the year 1882 with twenty-five children in attendance. The principle promoters of the parochial school were J. B. Determan and H. Lemker and Miss Mary Foley, a Catholic lady and teacher of the Timber Creek Township school, was engaged as the first teacher of this parochial school.

In September, 1889, the Sisters of St. Francis, of Dubuque, took charge of the school. The Sisters, M. Aegidia and M. Gabrielle were the first teachers here of the order. At present, there is an attendance of 106 children, who are taught by the Sisters, M. Celestine, M. Vitalis, M. Lioba, M. Irene, and the sacrifice of these worthy ladies is certainly much esteemed.
